Robin Hood at the Marlowe Theatre Arena

Please take your seats for our funniest panto ever

Brand new auditorium for Marlowe Arena's audience

EXCITING plans are already under way to bring audiences a fantastic festive treat this Christmas. Top comedy actor John Thomson and CBeebies presenter Sid Sloane will be joining local funnyman Dave Lee in the spectacular family pantomime Robin Hood.

The biggest panto in Kent will be taking place in a brand new version of the Marlowe Theatre Arena, which is still situated in the centre of Canterbury at Kingsmead.

Robin Hood organisers have changed the seating by bringing the stage right out into the audience.

The new layout has far more 'raked' seating than last year and surrounds the stage on three sides, so the entire audience will have an excellent view of this stunning new production.

Producer Emily Wood said: "We listened to the feedback from last year's show and we are absolutely thrilled with the new seating. The audience will be much closer to the stage and they will really feel part of the fun and action."

Director Paul Hendy said: "It's a traditional swashbuckling, action-packed pantomime with lots of comedy and romance. There really is something for everyone."

John will play the evil Sheriff of Nottingham, while Sid is the eponymous hero in green tights.

Robin Hood is at the Marlowe Theatre Arena from Friday, December 3, to Sunday, January 16.

For further details and to book tickets, phone the Marlowe box office on 01227 787787, call in to the Visitor Information Centre in Sun Street, Canterbury, or go to www.newmarlowetheatre.org.uk. Go to www.marlowe-robinhood.co.uk to see a detailed plan of the auditorium.

ENTERTAINERS: This year's cast are promising a panto you won't forget in a hurry

Sheriff John's finally found his perfect role

COMEDY actor John Thomson is thrilled to be playing the iconic character The Sheriff of Nottingham. He landed the role thanks to his good friend Joe Pasquale, who told John about the Marlowe's reputation for producing some of the best pantomimes in the country.

He is bewildered as to why he hasn't done more panto, saying: "I've got acting and stand-up experience and I tread the line between mainstream and stand-up. I'm also an impersonator."

"I sing a bit and I'm a jack of all trades. I'm made for panto because I have the stand-up, so I know how to work the audience."

"I'm done some theatre, not a massive amount, but enough to know about it. The combination seems perfect for panto, but it never crossed my mind."

His face is instantly recognisable from TV shows like Cold Feet and Coronation Street, but there's more, so much more, to John Thomson's repertoire.

The 41-year-old Mancunian's career spans more than two decades but started while he was still at college voicing the puppets on the satirical show Spitting Image.

After winning the Perrier Award in 1992 with Steve Coogan at the Edinburgh Festival, he went on to work and write with Steve in the Paul Calf Video Diaries: Three Fights, Two Weddings And A Funeral (Bafta winner) and Coogan's Run.

He later played the memorable Joe Beasley and Cheeky Monkey in Knowing Me, Knowing You and pub landlord Ken in Men Behaving Badly. Sticking with his comedy roots, John appeared as a multitude of characters on BBC2's The Fast Show.

Other TV credits include The Smell Of Reeves And Mortimer, The World Of Lee Evans, Murder In Mind, New Street Law and Kingdom.

However, he is probably best remembered for his portrayal of Pete Gifford in the multi-award-winning Cold Feet, for which he was nominated for Best Actor at the Comedy Awards.

Film credits include The English Patient, The Man Who Knew Too Little (with Bill Murray), 24 Hour Party People (reuniting him with Steve Coogan) and The Young Poisoner's Handbook.

Most recently, John could be seen in the new BBC comedy Big Top and on ITV as Jesse Chadwick in Coronation Street.

Last month he appeared in the BBC4 'origins' drama Florizel Street.

John, who is married with two daughters, has also appeared on stage in several productions, including pantomime once before.

PERFECT COMBINATION: John Thomson plays this year's panto villain as the Sheriff of Nottingham

PUPILS STRIKE OVER CHANGES TO TIMETABLE

Two teenagers arrested as hundreds walk out

POLICE were called to a Dover school after hundreds of pupils went on strike and walked out of classrooms in a protest over changes to their timetable.

Between 250 and 300 children at the Dover Christ Church Academy staged a walk-out during lessons on Monday morning after changes to the timetable were handed to them.

Two teenagers were arrested at the scene on suspicion of causing criminal damage and public-order offences.

■ BY NICK AMES

They had previously been temporarily suspended from the academy.

They were arrested after four cars belonging to teachers suffered damage to roofs and bonnets.

A man standing outside the school was also arrested on suspicion of a public-order offence.

The academy, whose head-teacher is Richard Williams, only opened as an academy last month after replacing the former Archers Court Maths and Computing College as part of Labour's since-scrapped Building Schools For the Future programme.

The pupils had streamed out of lessons to protest against timetable changes, which saw their lunch hours staggered to fit new class rotas.

A source at the school said: "Some of the pupils were upset that they could not have lunch at the same time as their friends and they have resorted to this to try to change it."

The pupils left their studies and congregated in the playground, where they started chanting demands for

SOLDIER EDDIE STOPS BY ON COASTAL WALK

Eddie Craven sets out along the White Cliffs with his Union Jack flapping in the stiff sea breeze on the latest leg of his coastal journey.

The ex-serviceman stopped off in Dover for the night as part of his 4,000-mile journey around the coast of the UK.

He hopes to raise awareness of the mental trauma and stress suffered by frontline soldiers who have returned home by walking around the British mainland in a trip that is expected to take a year.

CRIME SCENE: Paul Smith (inset) shot James Saunders during road-rage incident in Alkham

Jail for gunman in road-rage shooting incident in village

■ BY IAN READ

A GUNMAN from Dover who shot another driver during a road-rage incident in a village road has been jailed for 15 years.

Paul Smith, 46, was carrying a flare-gun adapted to carry a single .22 round when he was confronted by angry driver James Saunders, who he had just 'cut up' on Alkham Valley Road in Alkham.

Smith admitted wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm, possession of a firearm and three counts of possessing Class B drugs.

He was on the run for almost a week after the shooting in October last year, Canterbury Crown Court was told.

Smith, of Friars Way, was depressed after the death of his brother and the birth of a daughter with a rare skin disease five days earlier.

He was found guilty of the firearms and wounding charges at an earlier hearing and admitted the drugs offences on sentencing.

Mr Saunders was shot in the stomach as he charged forward to remonstrate with Smith about his driving.

Oliver Saxby, defending, said his client was provoked by Mr Saunders's behaviour.

He said: "Mr Smith was well over the top in his reaction. Saunders flashed his lights and sounded his horn.

"Had he not stopped, this wouldn't have happened. There was an element of provocation."

Smith told police he was planning to kill himself and his daughter.

He had previously planned to gas his two eldest daughters from an earlier marriage but did not turn on his car ignition.

He had told a psychiatrist he wanted to kill two business associates in 1998.

Police found amphetamines valued at £1,600 and small quantities of cannabis at his home during an extensive search.

Passing sentence, Judge Adele Williams said Mr Saunders had recovered from his injury, although a psychological scar remained.

She said: "You were angry. You deliberately stopped your vehicle. When he got out, you produced a firearm and shot him.

"Then you disposed of the gun, the car and the clothes you were wearing. I have no doubt Mr Saunders feared for his life and suffered considerable pain and distress.

"You fired a loaded firearm at a complete stranger in what was undoubtedly road rage. He was angry and your reaction was to shoot him.

"From the material given to me, you become unstable at times of crisis. You present a significant threat to the public and the least sentence I can impose is 15 years' imprisonment."

Smith was given a further five years for possessing the gun, plus a year for amphetamine possession and six months on the cannabis charges.

No contest in tenant and leaseholder vote

THE tenant and leaseholder elections for 2010 have been called off due to a lack of candidates.

The vote, which would give tenants in council-owned housing the opportunity to select who would represent them until 2013, was not needed.

For Dover and Deal, only nine candidates applied for the 10 positions and therefore they all will be elected uncontested without the need for a ballot.

In Sandwich and rural areas, only eight people put themselves forward for the ten places, meaning they will all be elected without the need for a vote.

For the Leaseholder post, there was only one sole applicant for the Dover and Deal group, and she will also be elected uncontested.

Young achiever reaps reward from efforts

A DOVER teenager has been honoured at the countywide Spirit of Try Angle Awards for Young Achievers.

Aaron Shilson was presented with the award to personal achievement in music.

The 18-year-old has been playing the organ for four years and has won a scholarship at St Mary's Church.

The Director of Music was so impressed by his playing that he now plays at the Sunday services unaccompanied.

Dan Seagrove-Castle, 16, was also nominated for the personal achievement in sport and outdoor activity award.

Kent County Council Cabinet Member for Community Services Mike Hill said: "Each year, the Try Angle Awards give incredible young people the recognition and tributes they deserve for their truly inspirational achievements.

"I never fail to be impressed by these young people who work so hard, sometimes in the face of adversity, and I congratulate everyone who has received an award at both district and countywide level."

Female pedestrian killed by lorry on A2

THE A2 was closed coastbound for several hours on Thursday morning last week after a fatal accident.

Police were called to the incident at Barham at about 2.30am – a lorry had been in a collision with a female pedestrian, who died at the scene.

The A2 remained closed while officers investigated, causing lengthy tailbacks. The woman was 21 and believed to be from the Folkestone area.

Anyone with any information can phone Kent Police's Serious Collision Investigation Unit on 01622 798538.

Medical centre damaged by 4x4

A LAND Rover crashed into a medical centre in the early hours of Thursday last week.

The 4x4 hit a parked car and crashed into the wall of Buckland Medical Centre, Dover, just after 4am.

Damage caused by the crash has closed off one of the surgery's treatment rooms, forcing the nurse to move to another room.

The driver sustained head injuries and was treated on the scene by a first aider, who is a resident in Buckland Avenue, and paramedics.

Police arrived on the scene and the Land Rover was towed away at 5.30am.

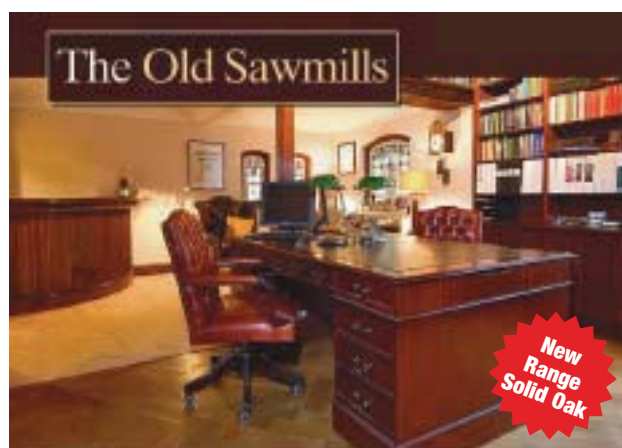

Practice manager Sue Thatcher said: "As I came into work I got a phone call about 8am from the receptionist telling me about the crash and that the police were on the scene.

"We have remained open but we can't use one of the treatment rooms because of the damage caused.

"On a temporary basis the nurse will be able to use another treatment room here and we will be able to carry on as normal."

Coastal walker Eddie's warm welcome at hotel

■ BY MATHEW BEECH

AN EX-SERVICEMAN is walking the length of the coast of the UK in a bid to raise funds for a veterans' retreat.

Eddie Craven stopped off in Dover on the Kent leg of his mammoth journey, taking shelter from the driving wind.

The former soldier started his trip in Exeter at the end of August and is expecting to finish his tour of the country in about a year's time.

A year ago, the former serviceman from Holmfirth, West Yorkshire, was homeless and living in a tent in woods.

The Royal British Legion enrolled Mr Craven on to the Warrior Programme, which helped him to overcome the post-traumatic stress disorder which he was suffering from after returning from frontline duties in Bosnia.

Mr Craven said: "I did service in the Army and when I came back I spent most of 13 years, on and off, homeless.

"I basically had no one to talk to. I couldn't talk to my family and my friends and I felt pushed further and further away.

"The Warrior Programme helped me with my mental health. I had been living in a tepee in the woods, but they helped to put me back in the driving seat in my head."

Mr Craven is taking on the coastal challenge in a bid to raise funds and awareness of PTSD that some ex-servicemen suffer.

Once he had completed the challenge, something he imagines will take about a year, he plans to create a retreat for PTSD sufferers and develop an environment in which they can relax, unwind and recover.

WARRIOR SPIRIT: Eddie Craven, who is walking 4,000 miles to raise funds for a veterans' retreat, at the Priory Hotel

He said: "Now I have a dream, which is to be able to set something up for ex-service personnel so they are able to talk.

"Something like an old farm building would be perfect to run as a retreat; somewhere where they can just chill out and talk if they want to.

"The Warrior Programme was a massive help to me with my mental health and now I want to help others. They have also been a big help to me with publicity – without them I wouldn't have known where to start.

"They set up the just-giving website to help me collect funds and sponsorship for the walk. I have no funds for this, so on days like today I get soaked. I haven't got any waterproof trousers, so if I was to take my boots off now, water would come flooding out.

"The people here at the Priory Hotel have given me a warm welcome and have done me a massive favour, giving me a room and a bed for the night, which gives me a chance to have a shower, warm up and dry my things off before tomorrow."

Mr Craven will be walking along the coast of Kent, before crossing the Thames at Gravesend, with his backpack, which has a Union Flag flying from it, paying homage to the image of troops at Goose Green during the Falklands War.

PROTEST: Dover Christ Church Academy

Pupils' anger over lunchtime changes

the lunch rota to be changed back to how it was.

However, some then started to run over the bonnets and roofs of cars in the staff car park.

Kent Police confirmed that it had sent officers to the secondary school after the children walked out.

A spokeswoman said: "Police were called to the Dover Christ Church Academy after 200-300 pupils mounted a protest following changes to lunch arrangements.

"No one was injured. However, the school gate was damaged and three or four cars belonging to staff were damaged.

"Two pupils already excluded from the school have been arrested on suspicion of criminal damage and public-order offences.

"One man who was outside the school has also been taken into custody on suspicion of a public-order offence."

Mr Williams said in a statement the incident was "unfortunate for all concerned".

He said: "While we accept some students might not support split lunch hours, it is a widely adopted practice in schools across the UK, not least because it allows for more efficient timetabling of classes and better management of the lunch break."

The following day the school held a morning-long assembly with some of the students involved standing up and apologising for their actions.

New shops job boost in town

SEVENTEEN new jobs could be created with two new shops set to open in Dover town centre.

Greggs the Bakers and credit shop Brighthouse are both in the process of setting up new stores in the town.

The rent-to-buy company Brighthouse has confirmed seven jobs when its latest shop opens to the public on Saturday, October 30.

A spokesman for the firm said: "The opening will create seven new jobs at the 2,500 square foot store, and there will be a grand opening party starting at 10am on Friday and Saturday, October 29 and 30.

"There will be a DJ, face painter, balloon modeller, while children will be able to pick up a goody bag.

"There will also be a special opening offer of a £10 voucher for new customers and a range of opening day offers and promotions."

The new Brighthouse store will replace the former greengrocer Paynes Stores, which closed down after the landlord sold the lease.

Across the road, the vacant store at 71 Biggin Street could become a Greggs, if planning permission is granted by Dover District Council.

The firm is asking to open from 8am until 6pm Monday to Saturday and 10am to 4pm on Sundays.

If successful, it will create up to ten new full-time and part-time positions.

Relay riders' trek to help hospice charity

A TEAM of cyclists has launched an endurance relay that will travel the length of the country.

The trio will set off on Mondya morning from Jewson builders merchants in Coombe Valley Road, Dover, in a bid to raise money for Help the Hospices.

During the relay, the teams will cover 100 miles per day that aims to reach the finish line at John O'Groats in two weeks time.

The charity cyclists will join up with others setting off from three starting points across the country and will visit 68 Jewson branches.

After the participants have covered 180 miles, the endurance challenge should finish at the northern most tip of the UK on Saturday, October 16.

Director of Sales at Jewson Paul Edwards said: "The aim of the event is to work together to raise money for Help the Hospices.

"One in three people in the UK has received support from the charity and we are proud to be able to show our ongoing support with the proceeds from the Tour de Jewson."

Those taking on the challenge will tackle 100 miles per day, with five separate relay teams completing 20-mile sections between 8am and 6pm each day.

RELAY TEAM: (l-r) Michael Rogers, Ian McFadyen and Scott Craig

Since its launch in 2002, Jewson's Together charity programme has raised more than £1.6 million for worthy causes including the British Heart Foundation, Great Ormond Street and Cancer Research UK.

The initiative encourages staff, their families, customers and suppliers to organise and participate in a range of activities to support the nominated charity.

July 2009 saw the launch of the 'together' partnership between Help the Hospices and Jewson, with almost 500 sites twinned with their local hospice.

ROLL OF HONOUR: Veteran Bob Foster points out his name on the Battle of Britain memorial wall

Keeping memory of The Few alive

UNIQUE Battle of Britain memorabilia signed by members of The Few is among prizes being raffled to raise money for a new project at Capel-le-Ferne.

Breitling Aerospace watches featuring the Battle of Britain Memorial Flight are also on offer in the competition, being run by the charity which looks after the cliff-top memorial to the veterans of the 1940 conflict.

KOS Media, publisher of this newspaper, has lent its weight to the memorial trust's efforts to raise funds for a new learning centre at the Capel-le-Ferne site, between Folkestone and Dover.

The KOS Media logo featured on all its publications includes a Spitfire and the white cliffs they flew to defend.

KOS Media's papers have covered events throughout this summer to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the Battle of Britain.

This year has focused attention on the bravery and heroism of the men of the RAF who beat back the Luftwaffe's assault. The trust wants to use that interest in the bravery of The Few to promote its appeal for £650,000 to build a hi-tech education centre.

With many veterans now well into their nineties, the trust is planning a centre that will give visitors a feel for what it was like to have taken part in the Battle when the veterans themselves can no longer tell the story.

It will use a modern, hands-on approach with video and other effects to bring events to life. The trust is hoping to include a restored dispersal hut as the focus of the centre, which will join the replica Spitfire and Hurricane fighters, the central statue and the memorial wall naming all those who took part in the air war. To support the appeal, KOS Media is urging readers to take part in the raffle.

■ BY MALCOLM TRIGGS

Visit www.battleofbritainmemorial.org to download a ticket, print it, fill it in and return your completed ticket to: The Battle of Britain Memorial Trust, End of the Battle Grand Draw, PO Box 337, West Malling, Kent ME6 9AA.

Tickets cost £10 each and there is a limit of five per household. Entrants must be aged 16 or over. Closing date for postal applications is October 18 and the draw will be made on October 21 at a fund-raising dinner.

PRIZES:

- First prize - three limited edition Breitling Aerospace watches with images of a Spitfire, Hurricane and Lancaster to mark the 50th anniversary of the Battle of Britain Memorial Flight. Donated by Breitling UK.
- Second prize - facsimile of original Spitfire sales brochure, signed by 28 of The Few.
- Third prize - Battle of Britain Memorial Trust pilot teddy bear wearing a silk scarf, signed by 18 of The Few.
- Fourth prize - framed limited edition print, 'Gentlemen, as you were', depicting Lord Dowding talking to pilots at Hornchurch, painted by Gil Cohen and signed by 22 of The Few and the artist.
- Fifth prize - 70th anniversary edition of the book Battle of Britain Experience by Richard Overy, signed by 19 of The Few.

Visitor centre's surge in demand

THE Battle of Britain visitor centre is to stay open into the autumn due to a surge of interest caused by this year's anniversary events.

The huge amount of television and media coverage marking 70 years since the struggle means manning the centre beyond the end of this month, when it normally shuts.

The memorial itself is open throughout the year but those inspired by programmes featuring stars such as David Jason and Ewan McGregor can now continue to find out more about the conflict. The charity which runs the centre has organised extra volunteers to cover for Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays throughout October.

Trust chairman Richard Hunting CBE said: "People can walk on to the site and soak up the atmosphere 365 days a year, but the car park, toilets, souvenirs and refreshments all add to the convenience and enjoyment of visitors.

"We are delighted our volunteers were keen to help us continue to raise awareness of the sacrifice made by the veterans who fought in the Battle of Britain by staying open for longer this year. We have been overwhelmed by the interest shown. Our Memorial Day in July attracted record-breaking crowds, our website has attracted huge numbers of visitors and the event really has caught the public imagination."

The trust has launched an appeal to raise £650,000 to fund an education centre at the Capel-le-Ferne site.

Mr Hunting said: "We have had a great response so far but still have a long way to go."

The site, which also features replica Spitfire and Hurricane aircraft and the Sir Christopher Foxley-Norris Wall which lists the names of The Few, is open from 11am-5pm on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays throughout October. The last car park entry is at 4.30pm.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Action on trains welcome

NEWS that rail chiefs have finally agreed to see if train connections between Dover and Ramsgate can be improved after meeting Deal MP Charlie Elphicke has been welcomed by the Trains4Deal pressure group.

The plans are the first step towards enabling the high-speed service to stop at Deal and Sandwich.

Journey times to the capital are now longer in some cases than they were before the improved service linking Dover with London.

But the community group is critical that Network Rail and Southeastern have offered no indication of when it may happen.

Organisers of Trains4Deal consider that stopping the trains that run empty past Deal and Sandwich is "not rocket science and should be done in a months not years".

They suggest the Open Golf Championship next July would benefit from an improved service with some direct high-speed trains.

Plea to glassing witnesses

A MAN has been left with facial injuries after being attacked at a pub in Dover.

The 37-year-old was drinking outside The Eight Bells pub in Cannon Street when he got into an argument with another man, who threw his pint glass at the victim, leaving him with minor facial injuries.

The incident happened between 4.45pm and 5.10pm on Wednesday, September 22.

Anyone with information should telephone PC Caroline Cornock on 01304 218180 or Kent Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Wing mirrors damaged

POLICE are urging motorists to fold their wing mirrors in when parked, following a night of vandalism in Deal.

A number of cars had their wing mirrors damaged in the College Road area between midnight and 12.35am on Saturday, September 25. An 18-year-old from Sandwich has been arrested and released on bail while officers make further enquiries.

To prevent this sort of damage, police are telling motorists to fold their mirrors in.

If you have any information, phone PC Jay Wood on 07870 252113 or Kent Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

New hope for Shepway's treasured wildlife gems

■ BY MARIJKE COX

THOUSANDS of birds could be given special protection under the Government's latest plans to save important wildlife habitat.

Earlier this autumn, Margate and Long Sands sandbank, which stretches along the north-east Kent coast to the outer Thames estuary, became one of the first offshore sites in the UK to be preserved under EU law.

Now, just three weeks later, Natural England, the Government's independent adviser on the environment, has outlined another Kent site it wants to see protected.

A three-month public consultation has started in a bid to get Dungeness, Romney Marsh and Rye Bay designated as a site of European and international conservation importance.

The area, in Shepway and East Sussex, supports vulnerable, critically endangered species and threatened ecological communities associated with wetland habitat. It also contains scarce wetlands such as saline lagoons, freshwater pits and basin fens.

Part of the area running from Dungeness to East Sussex is already preserved as a Special Protection Area by the Government, but plans are to have it extended and for a new Ramsar site – a designation that signifies internationally-important wetlands – to be included. Melanie Hughes, Natural England's business manager for London and the South East, said if the designations went ahead, the area would be conserved for the benefit of future generations.

SAVING GRACE: Birds such as the bittern, inset, would benefit from protection of wetlands at Dungeness and Romney Marsh

"Our scientific evidence shows that the areas we are now proposing for designation are home to a vast number of birds, rare and threatened populations of invertebrates and important and diverse populations of plants," she said.

"The site supports more than 20,000 waterbirds outside the breeding season, and significant populations of 12 nationally-important bird species use the site."

These include bittern, mute swan, shoveler, marsh and hen harriers, avocet and Sandwich tern.

Fay Bouri, conservation officer for the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds, said the Dungeness peninsula was one of the most important and sensitive wildlife habitats in the UK and the designation of Special Protection Areas was vital in halting the decline of important bird populations.

She said: "Dungeness is an expanse of coastal wetlands that is internationally important for breeding and wintering waterbirds, and an important stopover for migrants."

"The UK is home to nationally and internationally important populations of birds, and we have a responsibility to look after them."

"Special Protection Areas give the highest level of protection to these birds by ensuring that decisions about how we use these areas take full account of their needs."

A report on the consultation will be submitted to Caroline Spelman, the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs.

It's time to claim your vaccination

THE seasonal flu vaccination programme has been launched by the Department of Health.

GPs are gearing up to administer the injections as winter approaches.

The campaign encourages people across eastern and coastal Kent who are at risk of seasonal flu to protect themselves by getting the free jabs. This year's vaccine incorporates protection against swine flu.

This year's campaign is also offered to all pregnant women as they are most at risk of being admitted to hospital as a result of catching swine flu. Anyone over the age of 65 is also eligible for the free vaccination, along with anyone who has a long-term condition.

Some 15 million people per year are given the flu jab, which has to be updated to match the flu strains in circulation.

Every year, there are about 8,000 flu-related deaths in England and Wales.

Immigrant tests

A NEW language requirement for immigrants comes into force next month.

The UK Border Agency is introducing the more stringent examinations on Monday, November 29, for a migrant who wants to enter or remain in the UK as the partner of a British citizen or person settled here.

People entering the country will need to demonstrate that they can speak and understand English.

Citizens of majority English-speaking countries are not required to pass the acceptable English tests.

QUESTION & ANSWER

CAROL JENKINS

Q Tell us a bit about yourself

A I have been a teacher all my life and really enjoy inspiring others to achieve things they never thought they could. I guess I would say I'm quite a motivated person and if I'm asked to do something will give it 110 per cent.

I like to be active, so I attend the gym and work out regularly. I also attend The Ark Church and strongly believe that God has a plan for your life and is with you through good times and the harder ones, too.

Q What inspired you to set up CJ's Dance and Fitness?

A I wanted to create a place where every child felt special. It was extremely important to me that CJ's was open to everyone because I believe that everyone has a talent they can bring to the school. Achievement and success is only accomplished when everyone works together, so I really wanted the school to be a place where everyone felt part of it.

Q What type of dance is taught and practiced?

A We offer a wide range of dance disciplines including ballet, tap, modern jazz, lyrical and cabaret troupes – however, we also teach street-dance and cheerleading.

There is definitely something for everyone, from beginners right up to those seeking to make dance a professional career.

Q Do you have a favourite form of dancing?

A When I was learning, tap and modern were my favourite and probably the areas where I was the strongest. However, now I teach, I view the dance styles differently and see that each one has something to offer.

I always recommend ballet as an excellent subject to study as it is like the foundation to all dance disciplines and is extremely important if a child hopes to attend dance college.

As a school we have been teaching cheerleading for almost four years now and I have seen youngsters truly grow in confidence. Cheerleading is an area where everyone has a gift or talent to bring and this is fantastic for developing individuals.

Q Have you seen many dance shows and productions, and if so, what is your favourite?

A I would like to see more shows, but we are always so busy here that I haven't seen as many as I would like to. However, my favourite is definitely Billy Elliot.

Q Are there any you are looking forward to watching?

A CJ's regularly takes part in Mardi Gras events in West End theatres and also in Disneyland Paris.

Previously the senior cabaret troupe has taken part in the Mardi Gras national competition held at Sadlers Wells in London and twice have come third out of hundreds of dance troupes from across the UK.

This year the juniors have been selected to take part in the competition and we are all going up to watch them in November.

We are also travelling to Disney to dance there and 70 cheerleaders are due to take part in a competition in Blackpool in December.

These events and shows will be fantastic, and watching the children with a routine you have helped them prepare is a great privilege.

Q What are your aims and goals for the future?

A To continue to provide a dance school for the children and adults of Dover.

I went to Burma in July with pastors from The Ark and to visit orphanages in Yangon, which was probably the best teaching experience of my life. CJ's pupils donated money and gifts for the children, which they were so grateful for, so I would love to visit Burma again and further develop a link between CJ's and the Action Overseas Village.

Q What do you like to do in your free time?

A I love being on the water, especially in St Lucia, where the water is so warm, so I am a dive instructor, too. I also love water-skiing and doing active things. I enjoy just chilling with my best friend Rachel and love reading and learning new things.

Ferry company put up for sale

CROSS-CHANNEL ferry giant SeaFrance has been put up for sale, with an advert placed in a newspaper.

The French state railway group SNCF appears to be looking to cut its losses by inviting bids for the business.

The revelation comes as a restructuring programme has been given the green light, meaning up to 350 jobs could be axed.

A spokesman for SeaFrance said: "Nothing has actually changed.

"Selling SeaFrance was always an option and this was implied earlier in the year.

"Crédit Agricole Corporate and Investment Bank have come in and taken charge in this area and they placed the advert.

"SNCF are really keen to get SeaFrance back on its feet and selling the company is one of the options.

"We are doing very well, with the restructuring going through and moving forward...

"The sale of SeaFrance remains an option, subject to a satisfactory offer being received."

The threat of privatisation of the French company has not gone down well with employees, who face further job losses.

On the freight and logistics news website ifw-net.com, a union official said: "While it's been known for some time that SNCF wants to sell SeaFrance, putting an advertisement in a newspaper gives the impression it wants to wash its hands of the company as soon possible.

"This hardly sends out the right message to staff who have legitimate concerns on their future."

Community classes are on target

FREE archery classes are being offered to the over-50s.

The Elvington Centre will be hosting the sessions every Monday between 10.30am and 11.30am.

Coordinator Julie Loader, from Age Concern Health Promotion Partnership, said: "We wanted to find something a bit more exciting than the usual exercise classes that we have on offer.

"We floated some ideas to local people and archery proved very popular. The classes will initially run until mid-November, but we hope to continue them after this.

"It's a great way to keep active while having fun."

Centre manager Brigitte Ryeland said: "The Elvington Centre is going from strength to strength.

"Our list of activities grows each week and there's more in the pipeline. We are always open to ideas and want people to feel the centre is at the heart of their community."

For more information on the classes, phone 01304 832179.

Flooding fears a drain as heavy rain strikes

■ BY MATHEW BEECH

HEAVY autumnal rain brings additional worry and anxiety to the landlady of a Dover pub.

Jackie Bowles, from the Louis Armstrong pub in Maison Dieu Road, is emotionally stressed each time there is a sudden downpour, due to poorly-maintained drains threatening to flood her pub once again.

In 2004, a heavy shower, coupled with blocked drains that had been made worse by leaves that had fallen from trees, resulted in the cellar being flooded.

Coupled with a high river, blocked drains and heavy rain, Maison Dieu Road, where the pub is situated, can be flooded as the River Dour overflows its banks.

Mrs Bowles said: "Every downpour is emotionally frightening. You are incapable of stopping it. All the sandbags in the world wouldn't stop that amount of water and all you can do is stand there helpless."

The landlady blames poor maintenance of the drains, something she believes should be covered by the business tax she pays.

PULLING NO PUNCHES: Jackie Bowles is angry that she and her staff have to clear up leaves

To prevent further flooding, Mrs Bowles and other members of staff from the pub have been out in the street raking the leaves from the drains in an attempt to prevent the water swamping the bar.

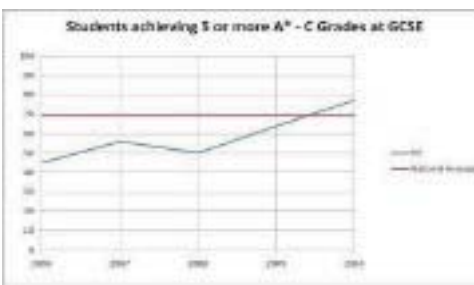

She said: "I don't think we should be doing that, not with the business rates we pay. We get absolutely zilch and we are not even allowed to dump rubbish at the tip. We get accused of flytipping, so we have to go to Hawkinge."

The last flood damaged pub equipment and forced trading to cease for two days as repair work took place.

Improve our roads, demands Elphicke

BREAKING UP: The A20 was resurfaced only recently but already is suffering damage from heavy lorries

■ BY MATHEW BEECH

IMPROVEMENTS to both the A20 and A2 are crucial for the regeneration of the town, according to MP Charlie Elphicke.

Following a meeting with the Dover A20 Action Group (DAAG), the Dover MP is supporting their campaign to make the A2 a complete dual carriage way.

Mr Elphicke met with DAAG on September 24, at a breakfast meeting organised by the Federation of Small Businesses, held at the Ramada Hotel, Whitfield.

DAAG presented an update on the condition of the A20 in Dover and lobbied for continued pressure on various government agencies to help with infrastructure in and around Dover.

One of the key points DAAG put forward was that the A2 and Jubilee Way, which was dubbed the saviour of Dover when it was built in 1978, is still a single carriageway in some sections and is therefore a poor relief road for the town.

Coupled with the dual carriage way of the A20 running through the town, this currently sees about 70 per cent of traffic use this route.

Mr Elphicke said: "I share their (DAAG's) concerns with the dualling of the A2 and see it as essential for the regeneration of Dover."

"We've not had our fair share of investment over the years and I want to change that as soon as possible."

"As everyone understands, the country is bankrupt and there are limited funds available at the moment, but when this improves in a few years we will work on a solution."

"The long term solution would be a double entry into Dover via both the A20 and a dualled A2."

"The A20 would serve the Western Docks and the A2 the Eastern Docks, leaving Dover centre free of lorries, which is important for the regeneration of Dover."

DAAG also raised concerns about the state of the A20 in Dover, especially where the main road crosses the River Dour.

Despite being resurfaced in 2008, the road is breaking up at expansion joints in the tarmac and around manhole covers.

Mr Elphicke said: "There are pot holes on the A20 over the River Dour where the joints are failing. As it stands it creates a big divot which creates a lot of noise."

"I have spoken with Dover District Council, Kent County Council and Kent Highways about trying to find a proper solution."

NHS
Eastern and Coastal Kent

NHS chairman to stay another year

THE local NHS Trust has reappointed its chairman.

Colin Tomson, pictured, will continue in his post at NHS Eastern and Coastal Kent which covers Ashford, Canterbury, Shepway, Dover, Thanet and Swale.

Mr Tomson has been chairman of the Primary Care Trust (PCT) since October 2006. He has more than 15 years experience at international board level of chemical giant ICI.

In 1999 he came to Ashford to work for the fragrance company Quest International (now Givaudan) on the Willesborough Road. He has also lived and worked in Belgium, Germany and Ireland.

Mr Tomson will be chairman when major changes are made to the way local health-care is provided. Primary Care Trusts will be scrapped under new legislation and more control will be given to GPs.

He said: "This is a time of change for the NHS. The White Paper Liberating the NHS outlines a number of changes to the system, including transferring responsibility for commissioning healthcare to GP consortia."

PCT chairmen are appointed by the Appointments Commission. The system means people with experience outside of the NHS sit on the board.

Mr Tomson, who has two children, has gained an MBA at Manchester Business School and completed the advanced management programme at Harvard as well as being involved in many other local bodies.

He will be paid £39,406 for the year he holds the post.

He said: "I am confident we are ahead of the game in terms of creating a bridge towards the future. Meanwhile we are keeping a firm focus on business as usual to ensure patient safety, quality and value for money are maintained to the highest standards. We have excellent relationships with GPs across eastern and coastal Kent and have been meeting them to discuss the implications of the White Paper and how we can support them as we move towards this transfer of responsibility."

Mr Tomson, who lives in Hythe, has been married to his wife Lynne for 35 years. His family has benefited from ongoing care from the NHS.

He said: "The NHS is one thing that touches everyone in their lives and it's our money that funds it. Our 29-year-old son Sam has cystic fibrosis so Lynne and I have had much experience of our health services."

"The care he receives has always been professional and supportive and his good health is down to this dedicated health care system – and his mum, of course."

Gathering greets greeters from all around the globe

THE first UK Global Greeter Network Conference has been held in Kent.

The initiative has seen members of the public welcome visitors into Dover from cruise ships in a bid to pass on local knowledge to tourists.

Representatives from across the globe, including the USA, Argentina, Holland and France, travelled to Canterbury for the first conference.

On Sunday and Monday, September 26-27, the global greeters met to share and debate tips and ideas on how to welcome visitors.

Visit Kent set up the programme in Thanet in 2007, modelled on the Big Apple Greeters scheme in New York, and was the first of its kind in the UK.

Greeters are volunteers who welcome travellers to the region. At the conference, a number of new greeters were awarded badges to show they have completed the training.

Chief executive of Visit Kent Sandra Matthews-Marsh said: "We're delighted to have hosted the first conference of this type in the UK. As we gear up to host the Olympic Games in 2012, we want to ensure we are fully prepared and ready to greet all visitors from around the world and show how welcoming Britain can be."

Head of Kent Greeters Peter Shaw said: "When I welcome visitors coming off cruise ships at Dover, or off the Eurostar at Ebbsfleet, they are delighted to see a friendly face, and have such positive things to say about the country at the end of their stay."

"It's the personal touch that they appreciate, and I never tire of meeting and greeting, and being able to demonstrate the best our country has to offer."

The founder of the original Big Apple Greeter scheme in New York City, Lyn Brooks, was among those at the conference.

She said: "I am thrilled that the Global Greeter Network conference was held in Kent this year. I was honoured to work with Visit Kent during the Kent Greeter start-up."

"This conference is so important because it brings together people from different cultures who all hold the same values: opening their hearts to share their love of homeland with visitors from around the world."

Branch out by encouraging wildlife in

GARDENERS are being asked to leave dead or dying trees and shrubs in their garden in a bid to boost garden wildlife.

The RSPB are calling on homeowners to think about the importance of dead and decaying wood and to follow a more natural approach when clearing their gardens this autumn.

From small twigs to huge tree trunks and everything in between, decaying wood can provide food and shelter to a range of wildlife, from invertebrates and fungi to mosses and lichens.

Dead trees and shrubs can be left standing to decompose naturally, along with old stumps, while this can be mimicked by planting logs in the ground.

RSPB media officer Sophie McCallum said: "There are lots of simple things you can do to make your garden wildlife friendly."

Birds feed on the invertebrates that live in old wood, while dead branches can make good display perches. A decaying tree with a snagged bough or a small cavity might also provide a nest site for a bird or even a bat.

The wildlife charity recommends that a variety of wood, both standing and fallen, is left, to allow the greatest variety of habitats for animals and insects to flourish.

Animal lovers could also build a wildlife stack. These are made of recycled materials and replicate natural features sought by wildlife in your garden, particularly by invertebrates such as ladybirds, many of which help control less welcome visitors.

Wildlife stacks also provide refuges for frogs, toads and hedgehogs and make an interesting alternative where it's not possible to include natural features in your garden.

Girls given insight into world of work

A NEW programme at Folkestone School For Girls will see students going on voluntary placements and internships that run throughout the year.

Each girl will spend one day per week for six months undertaking voluntary work within a community setting.

Examples include working in charity shops, primary schools and local tourist attractions. For the other half of the year, they will take part in the internship programme.

This is an extended form of work experience intended to give students a greater understanding and contribute more to their work placement.

In preparation for the programme, each girl was required to complete an application form and prepare a CV.

Interviews were organised with the backing of East Kent Business Partnership and placements found over the summer.

The internship days started this month and will see girls working for companies ranging from solicitors in Canterbury to a golf club. Other placements have been secured at hotels, hospitals and in scientific research.

Assistant head-teacher Sue Kelly, who is in charge of the initiative, said: "We are delighted to welcome the launch of this new and ambitious programme."

"With the cooperation of the school, EKBP, local companies and voluntary organisations, we have been able to provide each of our year 11 girls with the chance to gain additional skills that will give them a superb head-start when applying for university or entering the world of work."

Deanery pilgrims celebrate the Holy Father's visit to UK

■ BY MATHEW BEECH

YOUNG pilgrims from the Dover Deanery rose in the early hours to witness part of Pope Benedict XVI's visit to the UK.

Catholics from Dover, Hythe, Deal and Folkestone attended two of the papal events in London – at Westminster Cathedral and Hyde Park. The day started at 5am on Saturday, September 18, at St Edmund's Catholic School in Dover, where the group boarded a minibus to take them to central London.

Once there, the pilgrims took the Underground to Victoria and met young people from the Archdiocese of Southwark.

The Dover Deanery group then made its way to the piazza of Westminster Cathedral, where members took part in a mass celebrated by the Pope inside the cathedral.

The Holy Father was welcomed with cheers as he walked out of the main doors to address the crowd gathered before him.

The pilgrims then made their way through the streets of London to Hyde Park, where, along with more than 100,000 others, they watched a festival of Catholic music and performance. This was rounded off with an address to the audience, a service and benediction by the Pope.

Jack Devine, chairman of the Catholic Dover Deanery Pastoral Council, said: "This was a great occasion for young Catholics in the deanery. There was representation from near enough every parish within it."

"The day itself was great and definitely left us all feeling closer to the Holy Father and the Church in which he leads on behalf of Christ."

PAPAL CARRIER: Dover Deanery youngsters took a minibus to London during Pope Benedict XVI's visit to the UK

The youth chaplain for St Edmund's School, Brooke Linstrem, said: "The experience was unforgettable. I felt honoured to be a part of the papal visit and to witness so many young people from different deaneries coming together to celebrate their faith and love for the Holy Father."

Among the young Catholics who attended was singer-songwriter Louise Orfila. Louise became involved with the official-visit radio station and contributed to the media launch at Southwark Cathedral back in June.

She later released a biography-style radio interview of her musical career so far and how her faith had played an important role in her music. The interview, which was recorded at St Edmund's School's recording studio, New Eden Studios, was broadcast by the radio station during the week of the Pope's visit.

She said: "To be a part of this historic day was amazing. I felt so privileged to be able to share my faith with other young people from across the country. It was an uplifting experience and really opened my eyes to how important faith is."

"Words can't describe the atmosphere among the young Catholics as Pope Benedict spoke to us at Westminster Cathedral. I am also so grateful to have been able to support the papal visit with my music."

It's far too early to think of Christmas

Walking around Dover and Folkestone I have been very surprised – not to say dismayed – by the amount of Christmas products on sale.

There are cards, foodstuffs and even gifts on offer and it is still barely past summer.

One shop in Folkestone's Guildhall even has decorations up.

Surely this is far too early for any Yuletide-related activity?

Christmas is a fun time, but starting it in September is far too early.

Stations need to clean up their acts

I would like to take the opportunity to contrast the railway stations serving Dover and Folkestone, both of which are used by the High Speed service to London.

Dover's has had a major revamp, with new access points and cleaned-up entrances.

But both Folkestone Central and Folkestone West remain in a dilapidated condition, with weeds growing through cracks and peeling paint.

Dover has a modern café and, while the people who serve drinks and food in Folkestone are extremely helpful and pleasant, there are no facilities to buy newspapers or anything beyond a tea and sandwich.

Surely Folkestone can learn from Dover and brighten up its gateways to the town?

Miliband good news for coastal regions

The election of Ed Miliband as the new leader of my party is not just good news for the Labour Party – it's very good news for the people of the Folkestone and Hythe constituency.

As the very first Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change he more than anyone else best understands the danger this constituency faces from global warming and violent unpredictable weather.

During his time as Secretary of State millions of pounds were invested in strengthening the sea defences from Lydd to Dymchurch against rising sea levels and the horrendous consequences that will follow if they are ever to be breached.

Under his stewardship he led the way in championing wind energy across Romney Marsh and the world's largest offshore wind farm near Thanet, significantly reducing the country's future carbon footprint and putting the UK to the

Ian MacMillan explains why bankers nowadays aren't what they used to be GOBSMACKED is a word I was unused to when it made its way into the lexicon of common parlance back in the 90s, but it is a useful word.

I write as someone who worked in banking for 32 years and, indeed, passed all my banking exams and was so well qualified that I was in the top 50 out of 20,000 so qualified in the early 70s. I gained one of only five distinctions awarded in monetary theory.

Then, following deregulation, matters took a turn for the worse.

No more Captain Mainwaring's little branch in an idyllic small town, which we all looked forward to.

The banks' advertising claimed that us lowly bank clerks were experts at everything.

As good at house purchase as any building society, as expert at insurance as any broker. As for wills, we could do it – or pretend to.

'Jack of all trades and master of none' was the appropriate line and, where once bankers had provable expertise, customers were now in the hands of those with the gift of the gab and targets to make to secure bonuses.

Not wishing to be part of this Brave New World, I asked customers for the leaflets they had and, quickly scanning them, knew almost as much as they did.

As I'm in receipt of a pension for doing zilch apart from criticise, I must not bite the hand that feeds me too much – but does anyone remember the Office of Fair Trading's ruling that bank charges were tantamount to theft?

You know, £75 for going overdrawn for a day and, in my daughter's case, despite having plenty of funds in another account.

And then fat-cat lawyers sided with fat-cat bankers to make this theft quasi-legal. Apart from seething, what can Joe Public do? Well, nothing.

If the OFT is toothless, then there's no hope for little old me and you. And this is where that word gobsomack seems most appropriate.

Yes, the independence of the judiciary is something to be cherished, but the fact that justice is up for sale to the highest bidder is something to be less sanguine about.

I once thought that the average bank clerk was innocent of this negation of ethical behaviour, but I've since changed my mind.

Visiting a bank in Canterbury and waiting to be served, I noticed employees behind screens talking about their holidays and noshing their lunch.

Another one, presumably working, was leaning over one of the said screens and occasionally looking back at those waiting to be served.

Eventually I was seen to and it was something of a contest of contempt. His 'How dare you demand to be served!' against my 'How dare you be so condescending about eventually dealing with a customer!'.

I reckon bankers have adopted a siege mentality akin to those Millwall fans who chant 'No one likes us – we don't care'. And indeed, why should they care? The bankers, I mean.

Immune to the OFT recommendations and enjoying their bonuses, they appear to be able to put two fingers up to the rest of us with impunity.

forefront in developing "greener" energy technologies.

These policies will have profound long-term benefits for jobs and security in this constituency and the nation in general.

Only time will tell if he is the person to lead the Labour Party back to power but one thing is for certain, under his leadership the issue that potentially has the most catastrophic consequence for this constituency, global warming won't be forgotten by him when the Government proceeds with its savage cuts to our vital sea defences and our frontline emergency services across Kent.

Ed Miliband is a great leader of my party in the making.

At the Copenhagen Summit last year he showed the world he understood the threat global warming and climate change posed to the world.

By the next general election in either 2011 or 2015, Ed Miliband will have left his own indelible mark on British politics, and by then the voters of this constituency will know they have a true champion on their side as their next Prime Minister.

Thanks for all your Big Donations

I am writing to thank you and your readers for supporting the British Heart Foundation (BHF) as part of the nation's biggest ever stock appeal – The Big Donation.

The campaign, which ran throughout September, aimed to bring in 400,000 bags of stock – the equivalent of £8 million in 30 days.

To their delight the BHF has been overwhelmed with the support shown by Kent locals.

Having had two heart attacks, the BHF is a cause very close to me. Last year, BHF shops raised over £22 million which help fund their life-saving work.

Stock really is the lifeblood to their shops so think twice before hoarding those unwanted items.

There's still time to make your mark on The Big Donation by having a clear-out; filling up a bag and supporting your local shop.

And it's not just clothing... if you're planning on clearing out your home as well as your wardrobe for The Big Donation why not organise a FREE collection for that good-quality sofa you no longer need, or drop by your local BHF furniture and electrical store with those unwanted toasters.

For more information on The Big Donation and the BHF's FREE collection service, visit bhf.org.uk/

It's time for action on ailing waterways

With only five per cent of rivers in England and Wales described as being in a pristine condition, the Environment Agency is setting in motion management plans to improve the quality of our waterways.

Our waterways are a valuable resource that support a range of wildlife.

However, they face a variety of pressures, including run-off pollution from fertilisers and poorly-designed urban drainage; invasive species such as signal crayfish and American mink; and low water levels caused by over abstraction.

There are many pressures on our waterways and the life they support.

We have to do all we can to protect these vital wildlife habitats and ensure people can continue to enjoy them. River basin management plans have been drawn up to tackle these issues and are now being put into action.

The South East River Basin District covers over 10,000 square kilometres, and includes east Kent, Hampshire, the Isle of Wight, and East and West Sussex. Ninety-nine water bodies – rivers, reservoirs and estuaries – have been prioritised for action between now and 2015.

Kent has a number of water bodies identified for improvement.

Parts of the River Darent suffer from diminished fish numbers; the River Medway suffers from diminished invertebrate numbers; and the River Stour suffers from excessive levels of phosphates.

The RSPB, along with other voluntary conservation bodies, is urging the EA to implement the programme urgently and to work with partners to deliver results.

The EA is now moving from investigation to action, which is a huge step forward.

For many of our water bodies we have clear identification of the problems, the solutions required and who is responsible.

Steve Gilbert
RSPB conservation manager

Battle for Britain is lost 70 years later

Ed Miliband is the new Labour leader, so it's back to the days when the unions ruled the party.

The joke about the Labour conference was that they were telling this insipid coalition Government how to save the economy, yet they are responsible for the mess we are in.

As for the unions, they are ruining everyone's holiday plans so members can keep their freebies, and threatening massive disruption if the Government makes any cuts.

Yet where were they when British companies and their shareholders were sacking workers and replacing them with cheap foreign labour? Nowhere. They couldn't be seen being non-PC and anti-foreigner.

In Kent we have farmers refusing to employ Britons and factories doing the same.

They have the regular excuses: we only deal with agency workers; Britons do not want the jobs, they are too lazy; the British want too much money and a 40-hour week.

Yet the truth is they make a bigger profit with foreign workers. Having your own business is not just about profit. It is by helping yourself and your fellow countrymen.

Now we have an open door to benefits tourists. The EU has warned Britain it can't stop thousands more migrants claiming welfare handouts.

If the Tories had honoured their pledges and got rid of this terrible Human Rights Act we would not be in this mess and this coalition Government tell us they will prevent it happening – and pigs might fly.

When will the British stand up against this EU dictatorship?

We are honouring the people of the Battle of Britain for saving us from a European dictatorship, yet 70 years later we have one and have been invaded by people who are not wanted.

When will another Winston Churchill appear and get rid of these EU quislings?

More obese patients opt for weight loss surgery

■ BY MARIJKE COX

THE number of obese people being put forward for weight loss surgery on the NHS has rocketed in Kent over the last three years.

Last year, NHS West Kent referred 115 patients to the Morbid Obesity Single Patient Funding Panel – a massive increase of 203 per cent from 2007-08 – while NHS Eastern and Coastal Kent did the same for 113 patients, an increase of 163 per cent.

Many of those put forward would have been deemed suitable for bariatric (weight loss) surgery including gastric band operations and gastric bypasses, which cost an average of £10,000 per patient.

Nationally, the number has risen from just 238 a decade ago to almost 7,000 in 2008.

However, Maidstone GP and British Medical Association spokesman Dr Paul Hobday said it was inevitable uptake rates of a fairly new procedure would increase dramatically.

"It's only really gone up so much because the figures started from zero," he said. "But there are so many obstacles put in people's way before they are approved – like exercise programmes, dieting and psychologists – that most of the people who get the surgery absolutely deserve it."

"From a GP's point of view it's not available enough. It's easy to say people shouldn't eat as much, but the problem needs to be tackled."

Gastric banding involves reducing the size of the stomach by fitting a band around it, while a gastric bypass re-routes food to a small stomach pouch created by surgeons.

A third procedure, used less frequently, removes a portion of the stomach.

Mike Lander, morbid obesity lead commissioner for the South East, said bariatric surgery was a last resort for patients who have been unable to lose weight by conventional means, or who have a body mass index above a certain level.

NHS trusts in Kent have snubbed recommendations from a national health advisor to pay obese people to lose weight, even though almost a quarter are obese. The National Institute of Clinical Excellence (NICE), an independent organisation set up by Government to issue health guidance, said incentives such as cash, could be an effective way to help people diet and giving up smoking. But Kent's three primary care trusts have said paying people to lose weight is not the way to tackle Kent and Medway's obesity problem. The NICE report into incentive-driven health schemes, which invites members of the public to give their opinion, is available at www.nice.org.uk.

He added: "Each patient will only be considered if all other ways to lose weight have been tried for at least 12 months."

The figures obtained by KOS Media through a Freedom of Information Act request date back to the establishment of the patient funding panel in July, 2006.

From then to the following March, only 14 people were referred by West Kent and just five by Eastern and Coastal.

Richard D North, a spokesman for right wing think tank the Social Affairs Unit, said it was probably cheaper for overweight people to undergo bariatric surgery than it would be to fund their long-term health problems.

Experts warn of pensions crisis

A PENSIONS panic is on the horizon with the number of Kent workers reaching retirement age set to rise by nearly a fifth.

This year about 32,700 people turned 65 across the county, but that figure is expected to jump to 38,700 by the time the Olympics come to town in 2012.

Four Kent districts – Dartford, Sevenoaks, Canterbury and Maidstone – are all set for increases of more than 20 per cent, with experts warning the cost of paying for so many state pensions will place an even greater strain on public finances.

Across the county the number of pensioners will rise by an estimated 18 per cent.

In an average year about 650,000 people celebrate their 65th birthday, but this is due to rise to 800,000 in 2012 due to the post-war baby boom.

Pensions expert Dr Ros Altmann, director-general of the Folkestone-based Saga group, said: "More and more pensioners are coming through every year and it's something successive Governments have failed to plan for."

Proposals currently being considered by the Government to tackle the problem include bringing forward increases to the state pension age and allowing people to work past it, should they wish to continue earning a full-time wage.

Kent's ageing population is also creating challenges for Kent County Council, which provides a range of services for elderly people including sheltered accommodation and active life projects.

WARNING: Amanda Thomas fears an outbreak

Cholera still a threat to UK, claims author

DEADLY diseases may still exist in Kentish waters despite having laid dormant for hundreds of years, warns the author of a new book on cholera.

Hundreds of people died when an outbreak of the infection, thought to have been caused by poor living conditions near the River Thames in Lambeth, south London, swept through the county in the mid-19th century.

But despite only 35 cases of cholera having been reported in Europe since 2000, Amanda Thomas – author of the Lambeth Cholera Outbreak Of 1848-1849 – is warning that people should not be complacent about its existence.

She said: "I'd be surprised if it still exists in the Thames because of all the cleansing work carried out there.

"I don't think cholera has left our shores so we must be careful. It won't be terrorists or another big war that kills the human race; it will be some sort of epidemic."

Cholera is an intestinal infection caused by ingestion of food or water contaminated with the bacterium Vibrio cholerae. It causes a painless, watery diarrhoea that can quickly lead to severe dehydration and death if treatment is not promptly given.

• The Lambeth Cholera Outbreak Of 1848-49 is available now, priced £37.95 through Amazon.

Kent-Essex serious crime-fighting team 'making an impact'

KENT Police have lauded the early success of a new serious-crime partnership with Essex despite it being 18 months away from being fully operational.

Based in Northfleet, near Gravesend, the Serious Crime Directorate tackles big-league offenders causing problems in both counties such as armed-robbery gangs, drug-smugglers and serial car thieves.

And although the new division will not be fully implemented until April 2012, the man in charge – Kent's Assistant Chief Constable Alan Pughsley – believes that the early signs are promising.

Successful

He said: "The message at the moment is that the Serious Crime Directorate is here and is having a real impact on the people who cause us the most harm.

"Once all the other departments are finalised, we will be more successful than we already have been in the short time the command structure has been in place.

"To deliver what it has in a period of transition is outstanding. When that transition has finished, we'll be better than ever."

The Kent and Essex forces agreed to team up in the new initiative because of the similar problems faced by both, as well as their broadly similar numbers and organisation.

Mr Pughsley says that since the beginning of September the directorate has solved 60 offences. These include crimes tackled as part of Operations Pint and Julius, both of which involved London thieves stealing high-value cars from businesses in Kent and Essex.

"It makes a huge difference having police from both forces working side-by-side in the same room on the same problems," said Mr Pughsley.

"When you're investigating a particular crime you should always do a national check to see if any other force is too, but there would have been occasions in the past when two sets of people were looking at the same thing.

"The new partnership means we can also work with the Metropolitan Police in a much more cohesive way."

Last month Chief Constable Ian Learmonth revealed that Kent Police may lose 1,500 jobs if its budget was cut by 20 per cent in the Comprehensive Spending Review (CSR), which will be published on Wednesday, October 20.

However, Mr Pughsley said he was confident

PROMISING: Asst Chief Con Alan Pughsley is encouraged by early results from the Kent-Essex Police collaboration the new directorate would escape relatively unscathed.

He said: "I think the CSR will affect policing universally, but we are in a very strong position in that both the Chief Constable and the Kent Police Authority are supportive of such a dedicated unit.

"I think the future is secure, but what we've got to make sure of is that we are as efficient and effective as we can be.

"Some of the work done by bringing the two forces together in this way has already allowed us to look at how we can do things differently, and I'm sure as we work through the process we will find other ways to make savings."

DAY & NIGHT

Night in the Shadows

TAKE a musical tour through the career of the Shadows when a top tribute band visits Tenterden.

The Bootleg Shadows return to the Sinden Theatre at 7.30pm on Saturday to perform some of the band's best-loved hits, from Apache to Wonderful Land. Tickets cost £14. To book call 01580 763826 or visit www.sindentheatre.biz.

Classic art on display

ORIGINAL prints by James Barry and his contemporaries are on display at the University of Kent in Canterbury.

Works by Reynolds, Gainsborough, Mortimer and Fuseli can also be seen at Studio 3 Gallery in the Jarman Building from 9am to 5pm, Monday to Friday, until December 17. Admission is free. For details call 01227 827228.

Holby star in concert

A VERY special concert will be held at the parish church at Boughton-under-Blean at 7pm on Saturday.

Holby City star Tish Potter and organist Stuart Neame will perform songs they have played at celebrity weddings.

Tickets are £10/£5 from Boughton Post Office, the Fleur de Lis in Faversham and Judy Collins on 01227 751742.

Jazz moves to theatre

LIVE jazz continues in Folkestone this week with a performance by the Pete Abbott Sound on Thursday.

After moving from The Grand, the weekly Thursday jazz nights can still be enjoyed at the Tower Theatre in Shornecliffe.

To book tickets call 01303 277175.

Supper at brewery

INDULGE in some tasty tipples at Shepherd Neame in Faversham with a traditional Ale Samplers' Supper.

Friday's event includes a tutored tasting, evening tour of the brewery and two-course meal in the Visitor Centre bar. Tickets cost £24.50. To find out more email tours@shepherdneame.co.uk or call 01795 542016.

Teacher sings the blues

BLUES artist Roger Sutcliffe will be appearing at Faversham Folk Club next Wednesday.

The music and geology teacher is also a professional singer and guitarist. He will be playing at the Chimney Boy in Preston Street, Faversham, at 8.30pm.

Admission costs £5 for members, £6 for non-members and is free for under-18s. For details call 01795 536857.

Frankenstein on stage

A MONSTER will be unleashed at the Tower Theatre in Shornecliffe as the FHODS Youth Section presents Frankenstein.

Adapted from Mary Shelley's novel, the macabre and humorous tale is suitable for all ages. Frankenstein runs from Thursday to Saturday. Tickets are £8/£7 from the box office on 01303 223925 or visit www.towertheatrefolkestone.co.uk.

Characters come alive at Anifest

CANTERBURY ANIFEST

Friday, October 8, and Saturday, October 9
Canterbury Christ Church University, Canterbury

GET animated this week when the university hosts this year's celebration of a special art form.

The Canterbury Anifest will be bigger and better than ever, with two days of workshops, talks, screenings and competitions. There will be special guests in the form of dynamic clay duo Wallace and Gromit, along with other celebrities and professionals in the animation field.

The festival is being run by Animate and Create, which was awarded the contract by Canterbury City Council. Based in Whitstable, the company follows in the footsteps of renowned Kent animators Peter Firmin and Oliver Postgate.

Friday is Young People's Day, offering schools and youth groups the chance to learn about the business of animation. They will have opportunities to meet models of Wallace and Gromit and to hear from the creators, Aardman Animations.

Bagpuss and Emily Firmin, daughter of creator Peter Firmin, will be making appearances and the work of local schoolchildren will be showcased too. Students from Spires Academy, Archbishop's School, St Anselm's Catholic School, Barton Court Grammar, Simon Langton Girls Grammar and Community College, Whitstable, have been taking part in the Arts to Animation Project, and their films will be screened on Friday.

Saturday is the main festival day and there is plenty lined up for visitors of all ages to enjoy. The doors at Augustine House open at 10.30am and the first event begins at 11am. Aardman Animations offers a glimpse behind the scenes of Wallace and Gromit's world, when a member of the production crew sheds light on how the award-winning films are made. Tickets cost £5 for adults and £3 for children.

At 12.30pm, children and the young at heart can enter the magical world of The Gruffalo. Julia Donaldson's much-loved children's book was adapted by the BBC and the animated film features the voices of James Corden, Helena Bonham Carter and John Hurt. The film is being given a special screening on Saturday and tickets cost £5 for adults and £3 for children.

The work of Peter Firmin and Oliver Postgate is celebrated at 2.30pm, when the Children of Small Films – Dan and Stephen Postgate, Emily and Charlotte Firmin – share their memories of growing up around such classic animated characters as Bagpuss and the Clangers.

The event will be introduced by children's television director Martin Goodsmith and tickets cost £5/£3.

At 4pm the entries in the short film competition will be screened, and the awards will be presented. Entries include On the Water's Edge by Tommaso di Sanctis, An Audience With by David Keefe, Polished Off by David Edgley, Mi'au Myau by Vida Vega, Matter Fisher by David Prosser, Mad Dogs and Englishmen by Daniel Chester, Thursday by Matthias Hoegg, Traumdeutung by Lauri Warsta, Gorge by Thomas Knowler, Paper Daydream by Jun Iwakawa and The Eagleman Stag by Mike Please.

Spend an evening with Phill Jupitus, pictured left, and comedian Emma Kennedy at 7pm, finding out which cartoons make them laugh. Jupitus will discuss his love for Looney Tunes and Kennedy, the author of the Wilma Tenderfoot children's crime series, will reveal her penchant for Bugs Bunny. Tickets cost £10.

Adult day passes cost £25/£20. To book call 01227 769075 or go online at www.thegulbenkian.co.uk.

THE LITTLE BIG CLUB

Sunday, October 10, Winter Gardens, Margate

SIX popular children's characters appear together on stage for the first time in The Little Big Club.

In this vibrant theatre production, an ensemble of preschool favourites will be appearing to entertain their fans. Packed with music, fun and laughter, The Little Big Club is a great way to introduce children to live theatre in an exciting way.

Bob the Builder, Barney and Friends, Angelina Ballerina, Fireman Sam, Fifi Forget-Me-Not and Pingu will all be making appearances and joining in the fun. The Little Big Club

Band provides the music and encourages the audience to join in with each character when they go on stage.

For the grand finale, all the characters will join together to bring the show to an uplifting close. To find out more about the show, visit the website at www.thelittlebigclub.com.

The 70-minute performance starts at 1pm. Tickets cost £12 for adults, £10 for children and £40 for families of four. To book call the box office on 01843 292795/296111 or visit the website at www.margatewintergardens.co.uk.

KASAI MASAI

Monday, October 11, Gulbenkian Theatre, Canterbury

PERK up your lunchtime with a free concert from world music band, Kasai Masai.

Sponsored by law firm Furley Page, the show is the first in a season of free lunchtime concerts in Canterbury. With their intriguing blend of traditional sounds and contemporary influences, Kasai Masai will brighten up any day.

Taking the ancestral music of remote equatorial African villages, which has been passed down from generation to generation, the band adds its own unique twist to the songs. Percussion and vocals are combined with the Congolese guitar and jazz saxophone to create the distinctive Kasai Masai sound.

Furley Page will be sponsoring three concerts over the coming months. On November 8, the dynamic duo of Mark Eden and Christopher Stell will give guitar renditions of works by Bach and Rodrigo, while the choristers of Canterbury Cathedral will sing on December 6.

The lunchtime concerts start at 1.10pm and there is a suggested donation of £3. To find out more go to the website at www.kent.ac.uk and visit the music page.

RODNEY BEWES - THREE MEN IN A BOAT

Sunday, October 10, Memorial Theatre, Broadstairs

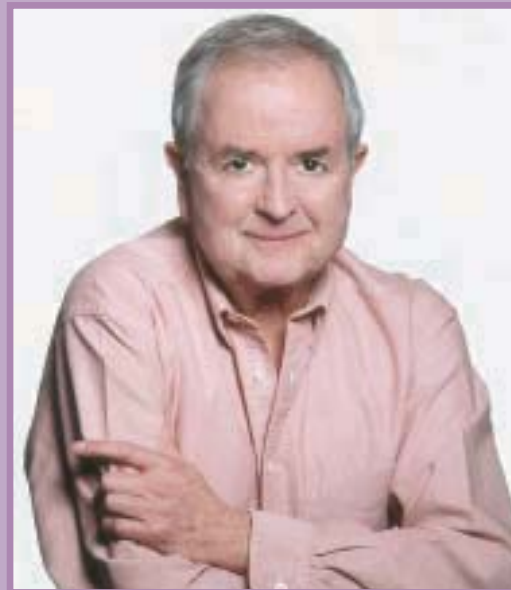

A CLASSIC story of messing about on the river is brought to life by veteran actor Rodney Bewes.

The star of The Likely Lads will be delighting the audience with stories about three friends taking a boating trip up the Thames, in the company of Montmerency the dog. Jerome K Jerome's much-loved book provides the source material for this highly entertaining comedy, performed by one of our greatest comic actors.

When three friends decide to take a holiday together, they settle on a boating trip, but things go wrong from the outset. During the trip they experience various comic scenarios, including the time that Harris manages to get 40 strangers lost in Hampton Court maze.

A big success at this year's Edinburgh Festival, Three Men in a Boat is an enchanting show that demonstrates the talents of both Bewes and Jerome.

The show starts at 6pm and tickets cost £10.50 for Sarah Thorne Theatre Club members and £12.50 for non-members, who must book at least 24 hours in advance. To book call 0845 262 6263 or email info@sarahthorne-theatreclub.co.uk to reserve.

STINA WILSON AND ALEX RIDER

Friday, October 8, Town Hall, Deal

ENJOY the enchanting sounds of flute and harp at the second of the Deal Festival chamber concerts.

Local flautist Stina Wilson will perform with harpist Alex Rider, who is currently on the Masters programme in music at Canterbury Christ Church University.

They will present a varied programme, which includes works by Bach, Donizetti, Antoine Francisque, Alan Hovhaness and Ian Clarke.

Wilson lives in Canterbury, but she has performed throughout the UK, Europe and US. She studied at the Guildhall before moving on to the Paris Conservatoire and the Moscow Conservatoire. She has worked with a number of high-profile orchestras, holding the position of principal flute at Opera North for 17 years.

After studying under Frances Kelly and Gabriella Dall'Olio, Rider moved to Canterbury to continue his studies and has been in high demand as an orchestral and chamber musician. His local appearances have included performing alongside Wilson as part of the Cinque Ports Ensemble concert at last year's festival.

The concert starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £10 or £18 for two concerts from the Sound House on 01304 381134.

PATRICK MONAHAN

Friday, October 8
Granville Theatre, Ramsgate

COMEDIAN Patrick Monahan will be aiming for the funny bone when he visits Thanet this week.

With a complex cultural background that includes northern, Irish and Iranian elements, Monahan has some interesting influences to draw on. Last year's national tour was so successful that he is back on the road again to win more fans.

Combining his observational comedy with a sharp wit and entertaining audience interaction, he has become highly popular on the live circuit.

Monahan has often been seen on The Paul O'Grady Show on Channel 4 and has sold out a number of runs at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival. One critic declared his show to be the best at the festival in 2008 and he has drawn comparisons to Ed Byrne, Adam Bloom and Ross Noble.

He will have support from Alan Seaman, who performs extracts from his show, Shopping and Cooking.

The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £12/£10. To book call the box office on 01843 591750. To find out more about Patrick Monahan and watch clips of his routines, visit www.patrickmonahan.co.uk.

Fearne Cotton and Holly Willoughby by visit Bluewater! WIN! a signed copy of their new book

RADIO 1's Fearne Cotton and Holly Willoughby, most commonly known as the co-presenter on ITV1's This Morning, will be making the very first stop of their limited tour at Waterstones, Bluewater, Europe's leading retail and leisure destination.

The pair will be signing copies of their new book, The Best Friends' Guide to Life on Wednesday, October 13, from 5.30pm.

Real life best-friends, Fearne and Holly, share their views, opinions and plenty of funny and personal stories in this aspirational lifestyle guide for women.

Fearne describes how they came up with the idea: "We thought there was a guide missing out there for people around our age or a bit younger, who need advice on different things. I don't think there are any limits for girls these days and that's what this book is all about."

The new book draws on their own experiences in life, love, friendship and work; both are team captains on ITV2 Celebrity Juice and each have their own fashion ranges for very.co.uk.

The Best Friends Guide to Life is packed with exclusive photos of the girls (from past to present), lots of which have never been seen before. Plus there is an added bonus of more than 20 exclusive illustrations especially created by Fearne.

For your chance to win one of 15 signed copies of The Best Friends' Guide to Life, £16.99, published by Vermilion simply answer the following question:

Q: What TV show is both Holly and Fearne team captains on?

A: I'm a Celebrity Get Me Out of Here

B: ITV2 Celebrity Juice

C: Big Brother

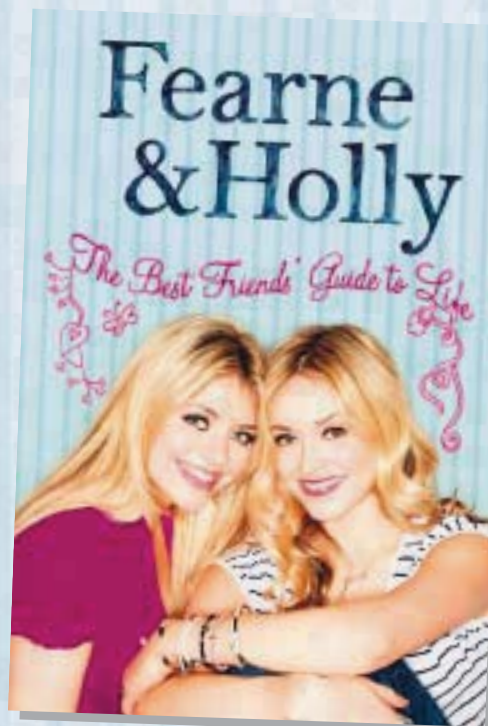

Send your answers on a postcard to Fearne and Holly Competition, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent TN25 6SR.

The closing date is Monday, October 11, 2010.

No purchase necessary.

For our full Ts&Cs please visit www.kentnews.co.uk, or for a posted copy call 01303 817073. If you do not wish to receive any literature please write 'no literature' on your entry.

Oscar hopeful Reynolds goes underground in this dark thriller

■ BY DAMON SMITH

FILM-MAKING is a collaborative process, pooling the creativity and imagination of dozens, sometimes hundreds, of individuals behind of and in front of the cameras.

Rodrigo Cortes's thriller goes back to basics and daringly asks us to invest all of our emotions in just one character who spends the entire film on screen trapped in a single, cramped location.

Not since Sam Rockwell discovered the terrifying secrets of Moon or Tom Hanks found himself a Cast Away with only a volleyball for company, has the entire weight of a film rested on one actor's shoulders.

Hollywood hunk Ryan Reynolds had a glorious 2009, paired with Sandra Bullock in the romantic comedy The Proposal.

Now, he is very much on his own in Buried, which traps the actor inside a wooden coffin deep underground for 94 nail-biting minutes.

Cortes doesn't allow his camera to escape from the subterranean prison for a single second – no flashbacks, no fleeting glimpses of the sunshine above the tomb.

Instead, the camera cleverly moves around the space over Reynolds's dirty, sweat-drenched body, lit by the flickers of a cigarette lighter or the beam of a torch.

When darkness occasionally prevails, we can still hear his rapid breathing and his clothes catching on splinters of wood.

Viewers who suffer from claustrophobia should look away...

Truck driver Paul Conroy (Reynolds) is attacked during a convoy run in Iraq and wakes inside a crudely-constructed coffin.

With no obvious way out, Paul discovers a mobile phone with a weak signal and hurriedly calls for help, telling the 911 operator, "I don't know what's going on. I'm buried in a box!"

As anxiety takes hold in the cramped con-

TRAPPED: Ryan Reynolds is kidnap victim Paul Conroy, the only character seen on screen in Buried, which is set in a makeshift coffin deep underground finer of his prison, Paul discovers that terrorists have placed him in the box and want a five million dollar ransom.

The terrorist leader, Jabir (Jose Luis Garcia-Perez), is adamant: For Paul to see his wife Linda (Samantha Mathis) again, he must pay up.

Dan Brenner (Robert Paterson), an officer trained in hostage negotiation, and trucking company rep Alan Davenport (Stephen Tobolowsky) seem powerless to help.

The prospects look bleak.

Buried wrings every last drop of tension from a simple dramatic set-up, making excellent use of the natural lighting to capture Paul's mounting distress.

There are whispers of a possible Oscar nomination for Reynolds for his overwrought theatrics.

But while he certainly holds our attention, the actor doesn't have the emotional range to take us to the edge with his stricken character and he doesn't always earn our sympathy, culminating in a skin-crawling interlude involving an unexpected visitor to the box.

Occasional deviations from logic – the final power bar on Paul's mobile phone lasts much longer than expected – feel like a bit of a cheat.

INSPIRATIONAL: Richard Armstrong as Lucas North, one of the agents in Spooks

YOUR TV REVIEW SPOOKS: BBC1, 9pm, Monday, GENIUS: BBC2, 10pm, Monday

■ BY JENNY ARMSTRONG

ALTHOUGH usually a fan of this high-action spy thriller, the newest series has not lived up to my expectations.

As Spooks is a programme with a high character turnover, this is not entirely unexpected. Spooks' peaks thus far have been Series 1 and 4. The first series took many by surprise in 2002, with its timely portrayal of MI5 agents battling the forces of evil on British home soil.

Series 4 proved to be eerily prophetic in filming an episode of a terrorist group bombing London just before the real thing happened.

At its best, Spooks is full of nail-biting jeopardy, believable plots, inspirational characters and rides the zeitgeist perfectly to bring involving hour-long episodes which would stun any room to silence.

But this season something has gone wrong. One of the most believable characters, Ros Myers, has gone leaving a very small cast indeed. The first episode was passable, but involved far more unrequited love than a British spy drama needs.

And the second episode was very light on real plot, instead focusing on various agents' questionable loyalties and back stories rather than letting the action and adventure take hold.

The scriptwriters do not do the programme any favours when interpersonal love affairs get in the way of the real queen and country action stuff, which is what anyone who watches a spy show really wants.

There is one character who is still managing to be a proper spy – as yet minor character Dimitri Levendis, an ex-SBS man who is amusing, relaxed and uncomplicated. Hopefully he will play a more major role in the episodes to come and leave the others to their tortuous intrigues.

TO prevent drivers falling asleep at the wheel, put a wasp in every car. This is one of the many ideas submitted for the new series of Genius, in which the eccentric musings of the great British public are given a thorough examination before being judged either genius or barmy. television series and some of the teething problems have been ironed out. It is livelier, more fun, more quirky and less awkward. The only disappointment is that the geniuses who were previously used as judges have been replaced by the comedy personalities that pervade all other television.

Synth pop stars to play classics

HUMAN LEAGUE: Philip Oakey, Susan Ann Sulley, and Joanne Catherall

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

SYNTH pop legends The Human League will play a pre-Christmas gig in Kent.

The 1980s chartoppers will perform at Folkestone Leas Cliff Hall on Monday, December 6.

Fans can expect frontman Philip Oakey and band to get through all their classic hits, including Don't You Want Me, Love Action, The Sound of the Crowd, Mirror Man.

A Leas Hall spokesman said the band, who are currently working on their 10th studio album, were trendsetters.

They said: "Synth pop's first international superstars, the Human League were among the most innovative bands to break into the pop mainstream on a wave of synthesizers and electronic rhythms."

The seafront venue will play host to a number of top musical nights before the big 80s electro throwback, starting on Friday, October 29, with Abba tribute act Abba Mania.

The programme promises a show time of two hours and 15 minutes, giving the band ample time to churn out all of Benny and Bjorn's most popular timeless tracks.

The setlist will no doubt include the likes of Mamma Mia, Voulez Vous, Dancing Queen, The Winner Takes It All, Super Trooper, and many more.

According to the Leas Cliff Hall official website, Abba Mania, accepted as the world's number one touring Abba production, 'celebrates Abba's music in a respectful and enjoyable way'.

Should be a cracking night.

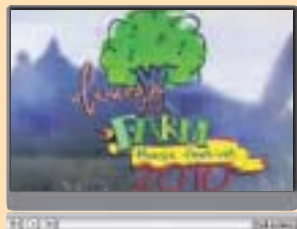

The tribute trend continues on Saturday, October 30, when AC/DC cover band Livewire perform tracks such as To Hell, Thunderstruck and Back In Black.

Support on the night comes from Thin Lizzy tribute act Limehouse Lizzy.

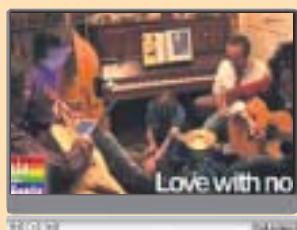

Pop starlet Ellie Goulding will

GODDESSES OF THE FLESH: The stunning Diosas de Carne at the Club Tropicana near Havana will get you into the rhythm of Cuba

yourgetaways

See Castro's crazy Cuba while there's still time

■ BY CORDELIA O'NEILL

IT'S a sweltering evening and through the darkness, musicians drum an intoxicating salsa rhythm.

Tall palm trees seemingly swing in time as I sip my glass of seven-year-old rum and prepare for a night to remember.

Suddenly the spotlight swings to the two stages, and a flock of girls – the so-called Diosas de Carne, Goddesses of the Flesh – descend from trees in time to the music.

The music picks up, lights flash on sequined and feathered costumes, and the Club Tropicana kicks off another long Havana night.

Launched in 1939 at the Villa Mina, a sprawling six-acre estate on the outskirts of the city, this floor show inspired copycat cabaret in Paris, Las Vegas and New York, and has drawn countless tourists to Cuba's capital for nights of decadence, drama and daiquiris.

Very little is new in Cuba – from Spanish colonial style townhouses to the classic American cars – Chevrolets, Buicks and Cadillacs.

One of the best places to view this irrepressible capital is from the top of the 137m high memorial to the island's patriot, Jose Marti.

A slow lift takes you to the top of the obelisk, topped with a statue of the poet, journalist and leader of the 1895 rebellion against Spanish rule.

Having paid my respects, I decide to worship the local culture in a slightly less worthy way, and slip into my gold bikini, don a pair of oversized sunglasses and make for the rooftop pool of my hotel – the neoclassical Saratoga.

FACT FILE: CUBA

Time difference	- Five hours (GMT)
Capital	Havana
Language	Spanish
Population	11,300,000
Currency	Cuban pesos

Also worth seeing is the Hotel Nacional de Cuba – the flagship hotel and the hangout of Errol Flynn, Marlon Brando and novelist Ernest Hemingway in glitzy times.

One peculiarity of the country is the dual currency system: tourists use a convertible peso (introduced in 2005 to eradicate the US dollar) worth nearly 25 times more than the non-convertible peso for native Cubans.

Castro, whose rule was described by one guide as "like having a very strict father", is a looming presence.

More human aspects of revolutionary life are visible in his birthplace outside the tiny village of Biran, about 750km east of Havana.

Seven Castro siblings grew up here in a comfortably-off family. Castro's father Angel, an immigrant from Spain, owned a farm and expanded with a general store, telegraph room, school, hotel and mini cock-fighting stadium.

Choose your souvenirs carefully. My favourite place to shop was Perfumeria Habana 1791 – a vintage-style perfumery where trainees mix a scent using notes including citrus, jasmine, rose, lavender and tobacco.

If you want cigars, don't buy a box on street corners, lest they are rolled-up banana leaves, and keep receipts for customs officials.

But Havana is only a part of Cuba's heritage. For a traditional Caribbean break, we headed for Cayo Saetia, off Guardalavaca.

In Cuba, a sea-change is coming. Since Fidel Castro handed over to his brother in 2006, the island has opened itself to the West, and President Obama's election could end the ban on visitors from the US.

Enjoy this crazy, contradictory country before too many Americans arrive.

Cordelia O'Neill was a guest of Thomson Holidays (0871 231 5595 and thomson.co.uk), which offers twin-centre 11-night stays on the resort of Guardalavaca and Havana from £1,876, including return flights with Thomson Airways to Holguin. Internal flights by Air Cubana. With departures only ex-Gatwick and Manchester, the programme runs all year round.

MOTORS NEWS

Focus is all about style for the third generation

FORD has produced a dramatic third generation Focus after criticism that the current version betrayed the innovative styling of the original.

A sporty five-door hatchback will be the mainstay of the new range, due early next year, but there is also a classy estate.

The newcomer is touted as a true 'world car' for Ford, rather than a specifically European one, and features a high quality interior in line with Ford's intention to move upmarket in search of profitability and image rather than volume.

Kia bring their 'Mondeo masher' to the sector

AMBITIOUS Kia intends to muscle in on the crowded 'D segment' or Mondeo sector of the motor market with a striking all-new model – the Optima.

If looks are anything to go by, this will be a classy upgrade from the woeful Magentis with which the Korean marque hoped and failed to gain a foothold in this arena.

The newcomer also has an eye on the tax bill faced by 'company car man' – it will use low emission economic drivetrains. It arrives in mid to late 2011.

Baby Mazda's upgrade

MAZDA has upgraded its clever and smart little three and five-door Mazda2 supermini just three years after launch.

There are cosmetic changes on the outside, but it is enhanced cabin quality and feel that is most welcome; in the search for an eco-friendly lightweight design, one felt that too many corners were cut with the interior, but that has been righted.

Powertrains have also been upgraded to comply with tougher EU emissions regulations and Mazda says bodyshell and suspension updates provide more comfort and smoothness.

STILL GOING STRONG: VW's Golf Blue Motion is the German carmaker's green offering, but uses a conventional diesel engine and it just as effective as its various hybrid rivals range; it is a green car that can be driven with verve. Nor does the BlueMotion dither on bends due to poor grip from its energy-saving, low-rolling resistance tyres.

And there is magic elsewhere, notably from a smooth stop/start system that cuts and then automatically re-starts the engine when halted by traffic lights, a jam or other delay.

The engine is also burdened less by the alternator – energy normally lost through braking is recovered to top-up the battery.

Weight and wind resistance have been shaved too and this paragon of eco-motoring actually looks as mean as some sportier Golf models, while sharing their excellent refinement and an interior that is robust, classy and well-arranged without being ostentatious.

Admittedly, Golfs are not cheap and our five-door BlueMotion test car is £18,715 against £17,895 for the 'standard' 1.6 S diesel closest to it in the range.

That car will cost you £20 a year in road tax after year one of ownership and averages about 10mpg less than its green sister, but you can see from the above where that extra £800 or so has been spent – and it is a lower premium than you will see on some other eco rivals.

PROPERTY NEWS

Older homeowners facing big repair bills

MORE than a third of Britain's homeowners aged over 50 say their homes are in need of repair, but more than one in seven are unable to pay for them.

According to research from Saga Personal Finance, women in particular are suffering, with one in five forced to allow their homes to deteriorate.

In London, 42 per cent of older homeowners need housing repairs.

The poll of more than 14,000 over 50s identified roof, drainage and guttering problems as the main areas of concern.

When asked how they might pay for housing maintenance, half of those questioned planned to use their savings and only a third expected to finance the work from their regular income.

Less than one per cent said they would ask family or a friend for help.

Saga executive chairman, Andrew Goodsell, said: "People are living longer which means that retirement incomes have to stretch a lot further.

"For many, equity release is the ideal solution, but until now the market has not listened to people's needs and providers insist on charging hefty fees."

Repossession fears as budget cuts loom

A LEADING credit rating agency has warned that Government cuts and tax increases could result in a rise in repossessions across the UK housing market.

According to Standard & Poor's, the house price crash did not bring the average cost of a home in line with household incomes, and measures yet to be implemented by the coalition government could test some mortgage borrowers.

In recent years, UK lenders have been exercising forbearance over mortgage arrears, keeping repossessions below estimates, but S&P has noted that Britain has a "high percentage" of sub-prime borrowers in arrears, and suggests that job losses or a jump in interest rates could cause a rise in repossessions.

The firm's report follows a recent warning from the Consumer Credit Counselling Service.

Recently the national charity revealed that it has on its books a number of clients with suspended repossession orders, lenders having not yet enforced orders, despite borrowers failing to meet repayments ordered by the courts.

However, the CCCS suggests that a hardening of attitudes by banks and building societies could lead to a rise in repossessions in 2011.

Detached homes lead way against recession

■ BY NICK AMES

DESPITE the current uncertainty in the market there has been good news recently for one particular set of homeowners

The average price of a detached family home has risen by more than any other property type over the past year.

According to new research from Halifax, owners of detached properties saw the value of their homes increase by £91 a day over the year to the end of June, with a 13 per cent leap taking the average value of a stand-alone property to £299,295.

By comparison, prices for all other property types rose by just eight to nine per cent over the period.

However, going back over the past decade, semi-detached homeowners have been the biggest winners, with the cost of the typical semi surging ahead by 111 per cent since 2000.

For terraced homeowners, growth stood at 110 per cent and for bungalow dwellers, 109 per cent.

Flats were the only property type not to double in value, with an 81 per cent average increase over the last 10 years.

Halifax housing economist, Suren Thiru, comments: "The changing pattern of homes bought over the past decade highlights some significant socio-economic forces.

"For example, the rise in the proportion of sales of flats and terraced homes reflects the increasing trend for people to live alone."

While married households remain the most common form of UK home, single person properties are projected to take the lead by 2020, according to a Communities and Local Government forecast.

The news comes amidst fears that the prices of property across the UK could fall again, after a few months of consolidation.

GOOD INVESTMENT: Detached family homes are increasing in value faster than any other type, say analysts

But analysts say there are very different values and prices across the country, with the worst decline in value in the north and outlying regions.

Kent and London continue to avoid the worst of the recession, but recent figures suggest they are not immune to the national downturn. However the increasing number of properties on the market is giving buyers a better choice.

Fall in prices 'good news for sales'

SURVEYORS say they are feeling less optimistic about UK house prices, with more respondents to the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors' (RICS) latest survey expecting prices to fall, rather than rise, over the next three months.

However, RICS spokesman, Jeremy Leaf, points out that while prices in many parts of the country may be slipping, sales levels could begin to pick up as a result.

Mr Leaf said: "Looking forward, our price indicators are telling a mixed story, which is consistent with the uncertainty hanging over the economy, the low level of interest rates and the lack of new house building."

Separately, the Council of Mortgage Lenders (CML) reported that there were only 56,000 house purchase loans approved in July, as loans to first-time buyers declined to 19,400, down from 19,700 in June and from 20,100 in the same period of 2009.

The first-time buyer share of the market fell to 34 per cent, its lowest level since the credit crisis began in August 2007.

The CML suggests that loan criteria have now "tightened a little", having eased in the early part of the year, with the typical first-time putting down a deposit of 24 per cent in July, up from 21 per cent in April and May.

However, low interest rates mean that for those getting a foot on the property ladder, interest payments are at their most affordable since early 2004.

Crew needed for the Nevill Crest and Gun, Eridge

The Nevill Crest and Gun near Tunbridge Wells is a beautiful old building that has now come under the wing of Brunning and Price, and we're embarking on an extensive renovation scheme to bring it back on song. With good luck we hope to re-open in December.

You may already know the Hare in Langton Green that we have operated for 22 years, and have more recently opened the White Hart in Sevenoaks. Our pub restaurants are traditional in style, with decent old furniture and open fires, and we serve simple, high quality fresh food.

Below are some of the positions we're looking for right now, but we'll also be recruiting for gardeners, cleaners, kitchen porters and front of house staff:

- Deputy manager - package up to £25,000
- Assistant manager - Up to £20,000
- Sous Chef - package up to £25,000
- Chefs de Partie - £15,000 - £17,500

To find out more have a browse through the website below. If you're interested in applying please email jan.bullen@bandp.co.uk enclosing a CV with a recent photo and covering letter, telling us a bit about yourself and what makes you tick.

Would you like to be a part of an exciting and growing team developing our portfolio across Kent's towns and districts?

Are you Sport mad?

Commercial Sales Manager (Sports Product)

Playing the key role in selling advertising and sponsorship across our new sports products is something that an all round sports enthusiast would revel in.

Candidates will possess a proven track record in media sales, combining excellent communication and presentation skills, a great business acumen, tenacity, and the ability to build positive business relationships.

Ultimately, we need an articulate and assured sales person with a structured sales technique, a positive manner and passion for all things sport.

Have you got innovative ideas?

Media Sales Executives

We have an opportunity for highly motivated people to create and sell multi-media solutions in our market-leading portfolio of newspapers and magazines.

We're not looking for people to just take orders; we're looking for people who can provide first class solutions for our customers.

We believe good customer service is at the heart of our success and we want to recruit people who can develop excellent business relationships and present effective and innovative ideas that will provide real value and response for our customers.

About us

KOS Media publishes the UK award-winning Kent on Sunday newspaper and a series of free weekly newspapers, magazines and associated websites and mobile products.

The company produces kentnews.co.uk and yourkentTV, an internet-based TV service providing regional and local news, business and sport, plus websites for jobs, property and motors.

KOS Media's newspapers have won more than 10 national awards, including UK Regional Newspaper of the Year, and UK Free Weekly Newspaper of the Year six times.

In June, 2010, media group Archant purchased KOS Media.

Archant is the UK's largest independently owned regional media business

It is a community media company active in the fields of regional newspaper and magazine publishing, contract printing and internet communications. All its titles serve clearly defined communities, based around locations or interest groups.

Archant can trace its roots back more than 160 years and today remains one of the country's largest independent media businesses. As a private company it employs 1,850 people right across England. It has an annual turnover of £142 million.

The newspaper division, Archant Regional, produces four daily regional newspapers and around 60 weekly titles with a combined circulation of 2.25 million copies every week. It is a UK top six regional newspaper publisher. It also publishes many of the group's 180 websites and a number of its magazines.

Archant also owns three magazine companies, which between them produce around 80 magazines.

We offer an excellent basic salary plus generous bonus scheme, ongoing training and career development, five weeks' annual leave, contributory pension and life assurance scheme (after qualifying period) and all the benefits of working for a large media organisation.

PUBLIC NOTICE

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENTION NOT TO PREPARE AN ENVIRONMENTAL STATEMENT (Regulation 5 of the Environmental Impact Assessment (Land Drainage Improvement Works) Regulations 1999 as amended by SI 2005/1399 and SI 2006/618

Lower Road, River Enhancement Project

The Environment Agency gives notice that it proposes to carry out improvement works to the River Dour in River between TR2983843098 and TR2985243073, for a distance of 50 metres. The proposed improvement works will involve the following:
- gravel re-distribution of the existing river bed
- addition of larger, more naturally sized river gravels to improve riverbed diversity
- planting of aquatic plants to restore chalk stream habitat and enhance visual amenity.

The Environment Agency considers that the improvement works are not likely to have any significant negative effects on the environment and does not intend to prepare an environmental statement in respect of them. A Project Plan and Low Risk Environmental Impact Assessment Note have been prepared and are available on request.

Any person wishing to make representations in relation to the likely environmental effects of the proposed improvement works should do so, in writing, to the addresses specified below, within 28 days of the date of publication of this notice.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

KOS MEDIA (PUBLISHING) LTD TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- Advertisements will be accepted only on the express condition that the advertiser warrants that the advertisement does not in any way contravene any existing legislation and in particular the Trade and Description Act 1968 and the Consumer Credit Act 1974.
- It is the responsibility of all advertisers to ensure that all advertising meets all forms of government legislation and KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd (the "media owner") takes no responsibility for liability in errors and omissions to the content of our media.
- All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
- All rates within the annual advertising agreement will be rate protected for 12 months from the first date of publication under the signed agreement.
- Any unsuitable material posted on any website belonging to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd by the advertiser or any associated third party will be removed or refused. All passwords and security supplied to the advertiser by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd in relation to the use of the posting of material via the media owner's online administration tool will be the responsibility of the advertiser. The advertiser indemnifies KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd against any damages as a result of misuse of these privileges by either the advertiser or any third party given password privileges by the advertiser.
- KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd reserves the right to change passwords intermittently to ensure the overall and ongoing security of its websites within the public domain.
- Copyright and licenses for voice-over/music/photography or film for advertising promotions or otherwise within the various forms of media in print, online and moving film owned by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must have been sought, verified or paid for by the advertiser where applicable. Approval or permissions must have been given by any potential beneficial owner voice-over or music. The advertiser must be able to verify any statements or claims (promotional or otherwise) in relation to their products/services promoted within any of the media offerings belonging to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd.
- Where shrinkage of an advertisement occurs for whatever reason, the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre where it relates to the media owner's printed publications. This will NOT apply to full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
- KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd reserves the right to omit or refuse any advertisement/commercial/web content without notice or explanation. In these terms the word "advertiser" shall be construed to include any person or organisation placing an advertisement on behalf of another.
- A guarantee of insertion cannot be given and the media owners shall not be liable for any loss or damage caused by any error inaccuracy within your marketing content. In no case shall the total liability of the media owner for any error or omission exceed the price charged by the media owners for that advertising.
- No liability is accepted for any loss or damage alleged to have arisen through delay in forwarding replies to Box numbers, however caused, nor for the loss or damage to any artwork supplied.
- Claims for any error or inaccuracy in your media messages with KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must be made in writing to the accounts department within 10 days of publishing.
- KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd accepts no responsibility for any errors or omissions made on their websites by the advertiser.
- KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd has the right to cancel the advertiser's annual membership without notice should the advertiser deliberately publish out of date material or content on any of the media owner's online digital platforms. KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd will seek to recover, in full, all outstanding invoices in relation to the signed annual membership as a result of the advertiser's negligence in this regard and reserves the right to claim damages for any potential vesitious action via the advertiser.
- Advertisers are requested to check their advertisements after the first insertion. The media owner will not be responsible for any errors on subsequent insertions, which have not been advised to them in writing.
- A minimum of one month's notice must be given in writing for any cancellation of the signed annual advertiser's agreement. Upon cancellation, all discounts from KOS Media's standard effective media advertising rate card (July 2008-June 2009) will be recalculated and adjusted accordingly in line with KOS Media's standard media rate card (effective July 2008-June 2009) and will reflect the revised length of commitment denoted by the advertiser's written cancellation. Any surcharges, refunds or costs in relation to the production of the advertiser's TV commercial for the commitment set out within the advertiser's agreement will be met in full by the advertiser as per KOS Media's standard media advertising rate card (July 2008-June 2009). Discounts will be reapplied and any refunds or surcharges will be paid by either party within 30 days of the advertiser's written cancellation. Any other advertising placed must give a minimum of seven days' written notice and any discounts given for series bookings will be forfeited by the advertiser upon cancellation.
- Seasonal contracts. Your Professional classified advertisements or any uplift advertising within the annual contract with the advertiser will be invoiced in full - at rate card - on receipt of any written cancellation of this contract within the 12-months.
- All uplift advertisements must be booked in at least three months in advance of publication and will be subject to availability. All dates booked will be on a first-come, first-served basis.
- The advertiser must agree to the date and time of filming of any online TV advertising commercial supplied by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd within the advertiser's agreement. (Platinum, Gold, Silver standard of commercial). Should, for any reason, the advertiser not be available at the agreed time without giving sufficient notice (at least 48 hours), KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd reserves the right to charge for any further TV production at its standard published hourly rate should the advertiser still wish to use KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd's production services to complete its TV commercial or photographic imagery included in the advertiser's agreement. The advertiser will approve and accept that there are only two choices of voice-over and music offered by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd. Should an advertiser wish to use other voice-overs or non-copyright free music, it is the responsibility of the advertiser to pay the PPS rights should they be required to do so. Any changes to or failure to approve the TV production by the deadlines agreed between both parties will result in KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd being given permission by the advertiser to replace the TV commercial with pictures or stills from a choice of photography supplied by the media owner until the advertiser can supply a TV commercial produced at their own cost and risk outside of this agreement. The advertiser also accepts and agrees that this action would not reduce the value or cost of their membership. Any cost of changes required to the TV commercial throughout the advertiser's agreement will be borne by the advertiser outside of this agreement.
- Each advertiser accepts that their ranking and position within KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd's search engine will be equal to those within their category (Platinum, Gold, Silver, Bronze, etc) other than they will be ranked based on the search engine criteria of optimisation within their level (Platinum, Gold, Silver or Bronze).
- Any delivery claims made by the advertiser or discount vouchers published within the print or online media of KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd and any action as a result of the public or otherwise is the sole responsibility of the advertiser. Any claims resulting from this via KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd must be met by the advertiser.
- a. All credit accounts due for payment shall be notified to the Advertiser by the 30th day following the date of the invoice, time of the of the essence. All sums due to KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd or RBS Factoring shall be paid in full, and the Advertiser shall have no right of set off in any circumstances.
b. In the event that payment is not received by KOS Media (Publishing) Ltd or RBS Factoring by the due date, the media owner shall be entitled to suspend all further advertising until payment is received and/or repudiate the contract and make any surcharges for breaking the contract.
c. BIG PUSH: Dover face big game against Tonbridge Juddians

Chob well done as Sharks face crunch match

Dover 23 Chobham 6

VICTORY over Chobham has left Dover fourth in the London 1 South table ahead of Saturday's crunch clash away to title favourites and Kent rivals Tonbridge Juddians.

The Sharks will be out to prevent TJs recording their 50th consecutive league victory, in the knowledge that an away win would land them right back in the race for automatic promotion.

Dover made the early running against Chobham at Crabble on Saturday although a rash of poor handling and slack kicking meant it took them until the 12th minute to open the scoring.

Ben Crawford's kick and chase put the visitors onto the back foot and skipper Martyn Beaumont took over the foot race to touch down for the afternoon's first try.

Chobham's strong defence detracted from the game as a spectacle and both sides kicked penalties before the interval as Dover led 11-3 at half-time.

Early pressure from the Surrey side in the second period resulted in a penalty to bring the score to 11-6 and it took the introduction of Ricky Mackintosh to re-ignite the home fires.

Beaumont and Ben Murray combined to send winger Jamie Townley away for Dover's second try and Murray added the extras to widen their advantage to 12 points.

From the restart, centre Mick O'Donnell showed a burst of pace to break down the right and threw a clever dummy before crossing for an unconverted try to seal Dover's fourth win of the season.

FOOTBALL

Deal go top of the table after beating Bengal

Deal Town 1

Sporting Bengal United 0

DEAL Town sit proudly at the top of the Kent League after Roy Guiver's first-half header proved enough to see off basement club Sporting Bengal United.

The home side could have put the game to bed before half-time as they spurned a series of chances but in the end, Sporting may have felt slightly aggrieved to leave the Charles Sports Ground with nothing.

Deal had a penalty appeal waved away as Deal started brightly but it took just ten minutes for the hosts to make it 1-0, with Guiver heading home from a Danny Smith corner.

Andy Hadden then collected a loose ball and saw his chip bounce off the post and fall to Guiver, whose follow-up shot was well-saved.

Aaron Robinson and Guiver both had efforts saved late in the half but Sporting rattled Brad Ashmore's crossbar early in the second as they looked to snatch a leveller.

In the end, Deal were able to hold on for the three points but their victory was soured by a straight red card for Grant Bagley in the closing moments.

FOOTBALL

Live and kicking playing the field

KENT Football Live returns this weekend and is your chance to follow your side's progress as the season really begins to heat up.

Featured games this weekend are Gillingham v Stockport County and Canvey Island v Dartford.

But don't worry, if you're not a fan of these Kent sides, we'll still bring you goals from games involving our sides, as well as half-time and full-time scores.

We'll also bring you results from the Kent League after full-time.

All you have to do is log on to www.kentsport.co.uk from 2pm onwards and watch the afternoon's action unfold.

NOT ENOUGH: (l-r) Adam Birchall and Olly Schulz were on target but it was not enough to prevent Dover losing and relinquishing their unbeaten away record this season

Defensive errors spoil Whites' perfect record

FOOTBALL

■ BY TOM HOWARD

Hampton & Richmond B 3

Hodges 2, Moone 31, 36

Dover Athletic 2

Schulz 42, Birchall 90+1

MISTAKES at the back cost Dover Athletic their 100 per cent away record in the Conference South as they were edged out in a five-goal thriller at Hampton & Richmond.

With a perfect away record going into the game, the form book would have suggested another away win for the Whites, but the optimism was shredded in the course of a disastrous first half.

The Whites were on the back foot after only two minutes, when Ian Hodges headed home at a corner to put the hosts in front.

Dover struggled to settle into the game and fell further behind just after the half-hour mark. The Beavers opened up the defence and Charlie Moone was allowed to bundle the ball past goalkeeper Ross Flitney.

Another uncharacteristic defensive error followed five minutes later, as Olly Schulz failed to clear his lines and Moone chipped Flitney for a third goal.

However, Schulz redeemed himself three minutes before the break by pulling a goal back with a header from a corner.

The visitors dominated the possession in the second half but found clear-cut chances hard to come by. In the final minute they were handed a lifeline when Adam Birchall converted a penalty, given for handball, but it proved too little too late.

A disappointed Dover boss Martin Hayes said: "We defended poorly and there were just too many mistakes at the back. Before we had really started we were 3-0 down. We have been defending well, home and away, before the game but I'd probably say three of the four defenders made mistakes which they wouldn't usually make."

"We had chances to get back in the game. We could have grabbed a point at the end and maybe even the three but it was always going to be tough after going 3-0 down. A few egos are battered and bruised but if some of the players turn in those kind of performances then they will be sitting in the stands."

Dover Athletic starting XI

Subs used: T'Anson (Tabiri 69), Norville (Charles 69)

Striker Harry Crawford, who was on-loan at the club, has rejoined League Two side Southend United in the wake of Jason Norville's arrival last week. The 27-year-old Trinidad & Tobago forward, who began his career at Watford, has agreed to join Dover until the end of the season.

Dover face Cambridge City at Crabble this Saturday in an FA Cup third qualifying round tie.

Invicta braced for tough few weeks, says Cugley

FOOTBALL

BY DAVID PRITCHARD

Folkestone Invicta 1

Austin 82

Concord Rangers 1

Hawes 70

WITH a wafer thin squad hit by injuries, Folkestone Invicta manager Neil Cugley admits the next few weeks could be a case of digging in and picking up as many points as possible.

A late Simon Austin strike earned a point against Concord Rangers on Saturday, cancelling out a soft goal gifted to the visitors by goalkeeper Jack Delo.

Josh Burchell (ankle) and Liam Dickson (knee) played through the pain for a side already deprived of experienced trio Paul Jones, Rob Kember and Jimmy Dryden. Dickson had to come off midway through the second half and was unlikely to play at AFC Hornchurch last night, adding to the Seasiders' selection problems.

Both Jones and Kember are rated 50/50 to return for the trip to Cray Wanderers this weekend, while Dryden is due to undergo a minor knee operation this weekend.

Cugley, who is still in talks about bringing a new striker to the club, feels until his key players return it will be a struggle for Invicta.

He said: "Ever since we lost Paul Jones and Rob Kember we haven't been quite the same side. It's not through a lack of effort but we do miss those two and the sooner we get them back the better.

"Jimmy Dryden will hopefully be back by the end of the month and if we maybe bring one more player in we might have enough to sneak up the table. We're just looking to dig in until then, the good thing is there are a lot of teams around us, we're not getting cut adrift."

In the wake of the side's FA Cup exit at Leiston in midweek, Cugley changed formation from 3-5-2 to a more adventurous 4-3-3 for the game against Concord. It was designed to get the best out of Burchell, who played up front alongside Darren Smith and James Everitt, but the play was hampered by the midfielder's ankle injury.

Folkestone Invicta starting XI

Subs used: Austin (Dickson 68), Williams (M. Everitt 68)

There was little to choose between the two sides, who were both promoted via the play-offs in May. The closest the hosts came to an opening goal before the break was from a Frankie Chappell header well saved by the visiting goalkeeper.

Invicta were just starting to exert some sustained pressure when an error from Delo allowed Concord to snatch a lead 20 minutes from time. The usually reliable goalkeeper spilled a tame shot from James Hawes into the net.

The lead did not last long and Austin, on as a substitute, grabbed his third goal of the season. The hosts looked the more likely to find a winner late on, particularly as Concord were reduced to ten men, but they could not find a breakthrough.

Hythe continue hot trophy form

FOOTBALL

Raynes Park Vale 0 Hythe Town 3

WITH a lengthy FA Cup run already in the bag, Hythe Town successfully began their FA Vase campaign at Raynes Park Vale on Saturday.

An own goal gave Scott Porter's side the lead and Kieran Byrne scored a brace for the second successive game to see Hythe comfortably into through.

Town will travel to meet a familiar foe in the second round next month after being paired with Kent League title rivals VCD Athletic.

Despite being drawn away on Saturday, Hythe were warm favourites to progress at Grand Drive against a side second bottom of the Combined Counties Premier Division.

It only took Town a quarter of an hour to open the scoring, when Marc Skinner put through his own net.

The slender lead remained intact at the break, but in poor conditions Hythe needed a second goal. It arrived just before the hour mark when Byrne, who scored twice against Erith & Belvedere a week earlier, notched his fourth goal of the season.

The former Folkestone Invicta striker sealed the victory with nine minutes remaining to give Hythe their fourth successive victory.

Porter's side turn their attention back to the FA Cup this weekend. Town have already negotiated four rounds, but will need to create an upset to progress any further as they visit Ryman Premier side Concord Rangers on Saturday.

RUGBY

VICTORY: Folkestone (in green) eased their way to win

Bottom club no match for marauding Stones

Dartfordians 14 Folkestone 34

AN ENCOURAGING start to the season continued for Folkestone on Saturday as they ran in six tries to beat basement side Dartfordians.

Drew Woolford scored his second hat-trick of the season as Darren Molloy's side moved up to second in the table.

Dartfordians opened the scoring with a penalty after a bright start, but Folkestone responded when Richard Lama's delicate kick found Adam Tolman to pick up and score.

Another penalty edged Dartfordians in front, but that was as good as it got for the hosts. From the restart an error began a move finished off expertly by Woolford to put the visitors 10-6 ahead.

The Stones extended their lead after the break. Woolford powered in from 30 yards to score his second try of the day. Trevor Squire added the conversion.

Dartfordians kicked another penalty but Folkestone claimed a bonus point when Woolford completed his hat-trick.

For a moment the game looked in the balance when the hosts narrowed the deficit to eight points with their first try, only for Lama and Squire to score in the closing minutes.

ON TARGET: CBeebies star Sid Sloane will don his tights for the lead role of Robin

CBeebies Sid's a real hotshot

HE may be the coolest presenter on TV, but Sid Sloane is proving hot property.

The energetic host of the BBC TV children's channel CBeebies will play Robin Hood in this year's show and is already causing quite a stir.

Panto producer Paul Hendy and his promotions team have been out and about at various events across Kent over the last few months – and Sid has been the main talking point.

Paul said: "Sid is one of the most popular presenters on TV and we are really lucky to have him.

"My five-year-old son loves him – and it seems lots of other children (and their mums) do, too."

Sid, who describes himself as "positive, spiritually-minded and ambitious", is tall, loves football and is deadly on the dance-floor.

He reveals more in this exclusive KOS Media question-and-answer session:

• MOST EXCITING THING ABOUT BEING IN PANTO: It will be great to be on stage, working hard and sharing the good vibes with the audience and cast, but also very exciting to work with a fabulous production company on a panto that I've never seen performed before.

• INTERESTING FACT ABOUT YOUR BIRTH YEAR: The last two digits of the year backwards are the single digits which make up the day and the month.

• NEAREST AND DEAREST: Mum, dad, three brothers, one sister, my son, my fiancée, my nephews and my niece, my gran and my cousins all over the world.

• OCCUPATION: Actor/writer/presenter.

• BEST PART OF YOUR JOB: The people I work with and get to work with all the time. They really care.

• FAVOURITE CBEBBIES MOMENTS: Filming in Africa: Kenya in 2008, and South Africa back in May this year.

In South Africa we were at a game reserve and in Kenya we went all around the Masai Mara.

Seeing the elephants and giraffes was the most magical, but there was one moment when I was recording a link from the Range Rover with the elephants crossing in front of me and the camera at a safe distance in another vehicle behind when suddenly one elephant turned and gave me the look of all looks as if to say "Get any closer and you can kiss goodbye to your friends".

• DREADLOCKS, FRIEND OR FOE?

Good one! Friend – in the way that your best friends can be the most annoying, but that's one reason you love them, because you know they'll come good in the end. You trust them.

• ONE PIECE OF ADVICE TO THE 16-YEAR-OLD YOU: Focus.

• HAVE YOU EVER BEEN TO NOTTINGHAM? Yes, I performed at the Playhouse there in a touring production of The Twits for the Belgrade Theatre Company nine years ago – I stayed in an area called The Park and had a great time.

I didn't buy any lace, but I did watch Liverpool win the UEFA Cup to complete a cup treble in a pub very near the theatre. And I once got turned off the motorway due to snow on the way up to Sheffield, and we ended up in Nottingham for several hours.

Your chance to own the famous ghost gag bench

ITS ACTING may be the most wooden you're likely to see, but over the last 15 years the ghost gag bench has developed something of a cult status.

The bench has become one of the most highly-anticipated points of the panto: on it comes and you just know what's going to follow.

Unfortunately, it is going into retirement... but fear not – as Dave Lee would say – it's going to be replaced and a new one will get to see its relatives in Sherwood Forest.

However, rather than put the old version on the bonfire, one KOS Media reader can win it.

Dave is the man (or woman) most associated with the bench and is sorry to see the original one go.

He said: "From the very first time I sat on it, I knew it was something very special. Most of the leading ladies have asked to sit on the bench in the wings – apparently it gives eternal youth and stops your feet aching after three shows on a Saturday.

"These lovely leading ladies include Martine McCutcheon, Toyah Willcox, Daniella Westbrook, Shelia Ferguson, Emma Barton, Barbara Sturgeon and many, many more splendid bottoms, plus a thousand and one dancers.

"Many a man has had to endure the most frightening experience of a lifetime, sitting in the dark with 2,000 gleaming eyes watching and waiting for ghostly figures to appear; only to hear a frightening scream cause one of these brave characters to run off into the wings and back to their dressing room.

"Once they reach the safety of the room all they can hear is the tribal chanting of 'Well, we'll have to sing it again then, won't we, whoooooops!'"

Dave added: "Some of the male thespians who have braved the magical seat of danger are Brian Blessed, Peter Duncan, Shaun Williamson, Dave Willets, Lewis Collins, Tim Vincent, Colin Baker and Stephen Mulhern.

"Actors have travelled from the other side of the world for the honour to sit on that piece of English timber.

"From Ramsay Street, Daniel McPherson, Ryan Moloney and Blair McDonough have all contacted me to say this experience has changed their lives forever – and, may I say, mine as well."

• For your chance to win the bench, simply answer the following question:

• For 15 years, Dave has sung the same song during the ghost gag routine. What is the name of the song?

As well as the bench, the winner will receive four tickets to the 7pm performance of Robin Hood on Wednesday, December 8.

Send your entry to: Sarah Munday, Marlowe Theatre, C/O VIC, 12-13 Sun Street, Canterbury CT1 2HX. Please include your name and a daytime phone number.

The closing date for the competition is Friday, October 29.
